Novato Family Sails Right Into Christmas

It was Christmas today for the E. A. Stevens family at 1325 Denlyn Street, Novato.

Early this morning, the children got up to open their presents, which had lain untouched under the Christmas tree since before Dec. 25.

Out in the kitchen, Mrs. Stevens put the turkey in the oven for the holiday feast.

The reason for the late Christmas was simple. The Stevens boys wanted their father home for Christmas, and he was away at sea. So they voted to hold back on their celebration until he returned.

Stevens, who is a senior chief bosun's mate on the General Mitchell, arrived late yesterday from the Far East. The boys — Michael, 10, Steven, 8, Cass, 5, Scott, 2, and their sister, Kay Dee, 1, along with their mother, Kay, and her father, Fred Hassfeld of 27 Harbor Street, San Rafael, met the ship at Fort Mason.

However, Stevens could not get off there, so the family rode the ship across the bay to Oakland where Stevens was granted leave. Grandfather drove the car to Oakland.

When the car arrived at 1325 Denlyn Street, Stevens was met by two big signs on the garage doors. One read: "Merry Christmas and happy New Year"; the other "Welcome home daddy — Mike, Steve, Cass, Scott, Kay Dee, Mommie and dear old pup pup." The last referred to grandfather, not the family dog, Muffin.

So today, while other children attended school, the Stevens boys had Christmas with their dad.

2 New Army Divisions To Be Formed

PALM BEACH (AP) — President John F. Kennedy ordered today the immediate formation of two new Army divisions, expanding the service to 16 permanent divisions.

The Palm Beach White House said the activation of the two divisions would permit the release "later this year," with no time specified, of the 32nd and 49th National Guard divisions which were called to duty last Oct. 15 in the armed forces buildup precipitated by the Berlin crisis.

One of the new regular divisions, the First Armored, will be activated at Ft. Hood, Tex. The other, the Fifth Mechanized Infantry, will be organized at Ft. Carson, Colo.

What House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy approved the action at meetings yesterday and this morning with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and the nation's top defense officials.

Qualified sources said the two National Guard divisions summoned to duty should not anticipate returning home for at least several months.

Chaplin, Wife Expect No. 8

VEVEY, Switzerland (AP) — Charlie Chaplin's wife Oona is expecting the couple's eighth child next summer, it was announced today.

A member of Chaplin's household said the birth was expected simetime in July.

At that time Chaplin will be 73 years old.

His wife, daughter of the late American playwright Eugene O'Neill, will be 37.

They have five girls and two boys.

WALTER R. CASTRO

Castro Back As Chairman Of Supervisors

Walter R. Castro of San Rafael was restored to chairmanship of the Marin County Board of Supervisors by unanimous vote yesterday, just one year after he had lost the job.

But this happened only after resigning Chairman William D. Fusselman made a surprise try to put Supervisor George Ludy of Inverness into his seat.

This died for lack of a second.

Behind this brief drama was a double shift in board balance.

Castro went out last year because Ludy and J. Walter Blair of Mill Valley, both considered allied with Fusselman, joined the board. Recall of Blair last month and his replacement by his fellow Mill Valleyan, Peter Behr, shifted the balance back in a way which foredoomed Fusselman's effort for Ludy.

MEETING OPENS

After yesterday's meeting opened, Fusselman said that a year ago his family had "strongly urged me not to accept the chairmanship" being "fearful that the job might interfere with my living to be 100, as I have only 27 years to go."

Duty prevailed "in view of the nature of the vote in the three districts" — Fusselman was himself re-elected the previous June — so Fusselman took the job with assurance to his family that he'd not serve as chairman for a full term.

Fusselman then recommended that the board adopt a rotation plan with each member taking the chairmanship in turn.

Announcing his resignation in a last paragraph, Fusselman said William Gnoss had said he didn't wish to be chairman "so I herewith move that Mr. Ludy be appointed for the year 1962."

BRIEF SILENCE

There was brief silence, then Supervisor Peter Behr pointed out that there was no second to the Ludy nomination.

Then Gnoss said he had been asked to be chairman but "I feel that Mr. Castro, chairman for many years, has done a fine job" and that he should be invited to resume the chair especially in view of the early occupation of the new civic center administration building for which he was largely responsible.

"I feel that way too," said Ludy, seconding.

Novato Board Puts Muzzle On Business

Novato Unified School District trustees last night put a muzzle on Supt. William J. J. Smith's attempt for open negotiations on a new contract, and a curb on nearly 200 Novatans who packed the multi-purpose room of Marin School to listen.

The promised negotiations never got started. Instead, the board decided to meet in closed session on a contract for Smith after a public hearing tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Marin School on annexation of Novato to the Marin Junior College District.

Then, in long discussion in which trustee Joseph Sereda held out until the final vote as a lone dissenter, the trustees came up with a proposal that newspapers and radio station be allowed to send representatives to the closed session —but that they be forbidden to report what they heard.

Smith several times reiterated that he would have no objection to public discussion.

However, after chairman Earl Marshall had won agreement of all the trustees to holding closed sessions, Smith said he would not object.

Marshall read a letter he had written Smith setting forth the board's position that the superintendent resigned at the Dec. 26 board meeting and the position will be vacant when his current contract expires next June 30.

"The board has indicated a willingness to discuss the resulting vacancy with you," the letter continued. It then asked for Smith's "feelings toward public discussion of all phases of any new contract."

"I see no reason why these discussions cannot be conduct-

San Francisco Hotel Fire Is Fatal To Man

Disaster Near Scene Of Last Year's Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fire early today killed one man in the five-story Hale Hotel at 934 Mission Street, a few doors from where 22 persons lost their lives in the Hotel Thomas fire a year ago. (See photo page 4).

The dead man was identified as Harold J. Lemmon, 57, a former furniture store credit manager. He was carried from the fifth floor. Ambulance attendants said he died while being treated on the sidewalk.

WOMAN BURNED

A woman identified as Marian Morgan was burned seriously.

Twelve persons suffered minor injuries or smoke inhalation.

Firemen with ladders rescued between 40 and 50 persons who appeared in windows of the burning hotel and screamed for help.

The Hale is a downtown "old folks" hotel occupied by elderly and ailing persons, some almost blind.

Hotel manager B. J. Patal, 40, roused many residents by dashing through the halls shouting and pounding on doors.

"A lot of them are old and deaf and sometimes they don't hear the alarm," he said.

'TOO MUCH SMOKE'

On the fifth floor, he said, "There was too much smoke. It got too hot, so I came down."

Firemen said the blaze started from an overheated hot plate in Room 419, occupied by George Gibson, 73.

"I had a hot plate on," Gibson said. "I've had it on lots of times to keep warm. I turned it on about 9 o'clock last night."

Jack Dyer, a tenant, smelled smoke and traced it to Gibson's room. Dyer broke the door down, pulled Gibson out, then ran across the street to a fire station.

The flames, which flared through upper windows, were subdued quickly as fire-fighting equipment raced to the scene.

$5,000-Fire Hits Bar In Sausalito

Fire that broke out about last midnight caused more than $5,000 damage to Smitty's at 214 Caledonia Street in Sausalito.

Owner and operator Susie B. Maahs, who was asleep in her apartment above the bar, said today she did not know how the fire started but that it seemed to have broken out near the draft beer box. "The whole bar will have to be redone," she said.

Asst. Fire Chief John Terris said cause of the fire could not be determined. He said 23 firemen, of whom 15 were volunteers, fought the blaze, which was egged on by exploding liquor bottles, for more than an hour.

Mrs. Maahs, who has owned the bar 13 years, said she closed her bar at 10:30 p.m. and went upstairs to bed. At midnight, she was awakened by a knock on the door, someone telling her the bar was on fire.

She estimated more than $5,000 damage. She said she lost quite a number of bottles of liquor which got hot and exploded.

No Accord In Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI)—The Katanga National Assembly met tonight for a scheduled vote on the Kitona agreement that would end Katanga's secession from the rest of the Congo, but the meeting broke up seven minutes later without taking any action on the accord.

Behr Wins Battle For 'Equity' Pay Hikes In County

By RANDALL GOULD

County Supervisor Peter Behr won a sudden and unexpected victory yesterday in his battle to achieve "equity" salary boosts for 107 county employees recommended for change months ago.

Cost of the increases until the June 30 end of the fiscal year has been estimated by the auditor's office at $24,173, for which money is available from surplus salary savings.

After finally bargaining his way to an amazing unanimous vote, Behr fulfilled earlier promise of supporting raises for six elected officials, starting Jan. 1, 1963, to preserve existing differentials against pay of the district attorney, who is to get $16,650 by action of the legislature.

Behr consented to his colleague's desire to omit consideration of the $1,500 currently paid to the county clerk as jury commissioner.

TAKES EXCEPTION

Administrator Alan Bruce had recommended that when this was paid the clerk's regular salary should be cut correspondingly, a view to which Clerk George S. Jones took exception.

As the elected officials finally came out, the pay of auditor-controller, clerk, sheriff, assessor and tax collector-treasurer will work out at $1,200 a month or an average of $14,400 a year for their four-year terms, though for the first year of the new term the salaries will be $1,125 monthly.

Jones got a county counsel ruling that he should charge candidates' filing fees on percentage of the first and lowest year's salary.

Pay of the recorder will go to an average $12,050 for his four years.

BIG BATTLE

The big battle centered on the neglected "equity list." Many an oft-heard argument against action was heard, notably from Supervisors William D. Fusselman and George Ludy, who wanted delay for new appraisal, worried about the effect on other employees, and brought up numerous other points.

Behr stood firm that "one-seventh of all county employees have been called out of line by their department heads."

Ludy demanded, as price of his vote, consideration of the entire payroll. Behr said he'd be glad to go along with that. "If there are other inequities I'd like to see these adjusted," he declared.

GETS SUPPORT

Support was given Behr when both Administrator Alan Bruce and Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell were allowed to explain the basis of the matter.

Bruce read correspondence dated last June 8 in which he said department heads had been asked last March 8 to study inequities in their departments, resulting in a total list of 151 who were out of line. Blanket raises for 31 maintenance men brought this total down to 120, but of these the board had acted on only 13 fully.

"Twelve received partial consideration but not to any full extent," said Bruce. "Ninety-five have not been acted on to date."

Behr termed the adjust-

MUNICIPAL COURT HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

Marin Municipal Court is holding open house this week in conjunction with a statewide open house week to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the municipal court system.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown issued a proclamation, urging citzens to visit the municipal courts to see "the vital part played by our courts in the preservation of our cherished rights and freedoms under law."

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, presiding judge of Marin Municipal Court, announced no special program will be scheduled. "The courts are always open to the public," said Judge Wilson, "and we welcome citizens to come in at any time."

George Jones Not Candidate For Anything

County Clerk George S. Jones, who will become 76 in July, will not run for re-election or for any public post this year, he announced today.

After 37 years in the county clerk's office, the veteran political figure issued a statement today indicating he will retire from public life and devote his time to real estate and insurance.

The retirement of Jones gives his deputy clerk, George Gnoss, the signal to go full steam ahead for the county clerk's job in the June primary election. Gnoss, the only announced candidate for the post thus far, had indicated he would withdraw if Jones sought re-election.

Agnes Nathanson, daughter of County Clerk Jones, has seniority in the office but has announced she does not seek the head post. However, she plans to continue as deputy clerk under whomever is elected for the new four-year term.

Next to Mrs. Nathanson, the senior deputy clerk is Gnoss. He has been on the job for 17 years and is considered a logical successor to Jones. However, Jones indicated he has heard rumors of possible competition for Gnoss in the June primary election.

Jones declared he will not support or oppose any aspirant for his post.

"I am not going to participate in any way in the election because I feel it is a matter for the people to choose as they chose me," said Jones.

Jones and his lifetime acquaintance, County Tax Collector-Treasurer M. F. (Frank) Donohue, will be retiring at the same time. They went to the same elementary school in Sausalito, and their history of public service has been almost identical.

Administrator Job Due Action From Board

Four points designed to rehabilitate the position of county administrator are to go on next week's agenda of the Marin County Board of Supervisors on demand of Supervisor Peter Behr.

This was announced yesterday in the midst of consideration of inequities in salaries of about one-seventh of all Marin County employees.

Behr served notice that he wanted next week's agenda to include consideration of four points "in one package" as follows:

1. Position of administrator, presumably meaning that last June's resolution seeking to abolish the job will be rescinded, thus removing this issue from the ballot next June.

2. Quarters of administrator, foreshadowing emergence from "Cell 300" and possibly a return to the former suite across San Rafael's Fifth Avenue.

3. Duties of administrator, now under orders from ex-Chairman William D. Fusselman to spend 80 per cent of his time on civil defense.

4. Salary. This hadn't come up previously. Both administrator and public works director now receive $1,125 monthly. The board yesterday voted a $50 increase for the public works director.

Goldie York Joins Up As Sarge Beams

PALL MALL, Tenn. (AP)—As her famed grandfather, Sgt. Alvin C. York beamed proudly, 18-year-old Mary Elizabeth York was inducted today into the Women's Air Force.

The special ceremony was held at the bedside of the Tennessee mountain man who won the Medal of Honor for his legendary exploits in World War I.

"I'm mighty proud of Goldie (Mary's nickname)," said York. "I want to thank the Air Force for bringing her here so I could see her sworn in."

"I hope I can make grandpa as proud of me as I am of him," said Mary Elizabeth.

Wreck Fatal To 23

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The crash of a truck into the Rio Huanehue killed 23 persons Sunday at Valdivia, police said yesterday. Eighteen persons were rescued.

The truck was taking peasants, many of them Indians, back to their homes after shopping for a New Year's Eve celebration.

Report On Riots

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—The government reported last night that 21 Africans were killed in operations against "rioters, intimidators, arsonists and saboteurs" led by the African nationalist United National Independence party in Northern Rhodesia last year.

The official report denied allegations by the party, led by Kenneth Kuanda, that security forces committed rape, engaged in atrocities and killed hundreds of persons from July to the end of October during nationalist disturbances in northern provinces.

Reilly, a board member since 1938, was elected yesterday to succeed John W. Lynch of Tulare. Lynch will serve as vice chairman.

More Snow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

More light snow fell across northern areas from the Midwest into New England and rain dampened some western sections but generally clear weather prevailed elsewhere today.

It was chilly again in sections of the Southeast, including parts of Florida. A general warming trend was indicated for most of the eastern half of the country.

Coldest weather again was centered in sections of the Northeast with zero and below temperatures in parts of northern New York State.

Bishop Boaz Dies

DALLAS, TEX. (AP)—Methodist Bishop Hiram A. Boaz, 95, founder and former president of Southern Methodist University, died Tuesday. Bishop Boaz had served as the school's first vice president from 1911 to 1913 and as president from 1920 to 1922 when he was made a bishop and assigned to the Orient.

Body Claimed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harriett Burns, widow of comedian Bob Burns, has claimed the body of her daughter, Barbara Ann.

Barbara, 23, died Monday of an overdose of barbiturates, her third since August. She had a history of narcotics arrests and served two 90-day terms—one in jail, one in a state hospital—for addiction.

Singers Barred

NEW YORK (AP) — A folk-singing quartet was barred from appearing last night on the National Broadcasting Co. Jack Paar television program because its members refused to sign loyalty oaths, an NBC spokesman said.

Milton Brown, manager of program publicity for NBC, said the action was taken after members of the group, "The Weavers," declined to sign statements that they were not members of the Communist party.

Koala Missing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Officials at San Francisco's zoo don't know whether Sydney, their only male koala, was kidnaped or whether he took off to avoid the responsibilities of approaching fatherhood.

In either case, they want him back.

Zoo Director Carey Baldwin said the Zoological Society has offered a $100 reward for Sydneys return.

Burdicks Separate

BERKELEY (AP)—The wife of author Eugene Burdick says she and her husband have separated after 19 years of marriage.

But Carol Burdick, in disclosing the separation yesterday, added that it was by no means final.

"We want very much to work things out," she said. The couple has three children.

June, Dick Together

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — June Allyson and Dick Powell formally announced their reconciliation today and have instructed their attorneys to cancel divorce proceedings started a year ago.

The actress received a 2.5-million-dollar settlement from Powell last year.

"We're back together again for good," Mrs. Powell said today, displaying her diamond engagement and wedding rings, "and I couldn't be happier about it."

Socialite Is Found Beaten To Death

PACIFIC PALISADES (AP) Police sought clues today in the mysterious slaying of a pretty young socialite who was brutally beaten in her $100,000 home and then dumped into a water-filled tub.

Doris June Bowman, 32, willowy honey-blonde mother of three and a community leader in this swank Southern California seacoast town was found dead yesterday. She was the wife of Dr. Frank Potter Bowman, 39, medical director for the Southern California Edison Co.

CHILDREN

A neighbor who brought one of Mrs. Bowman's children home from nursery school shortly after noon found her fully clothed body in the tub. Dr. Bowman was summoned home from his office in downtown Los Angeles.

Police said an intruder apparently hit Mrs. Bowman several times with a blunt object, dragged her 40 feet from the kitchen into the bathroom and put her body in the tub. She was wearing blue capri pants and a black blouse.

Investigators said the house was not ransacked. Bloodstains and fragments of teeth found in the house showed that Mrs. Bowman had battled for her life.

KILLER WASHED

Bloodstains on the bathroom basin indicated the killer took time to wash before fleeing. Blood smudges were found in several places, including near the front door.

A watch on Mrs. Bowman's wrist was stopped at shortly after 10 o'clock. Neighbors said they had seen no strangers during the morning, nor had they heard any sounds of a struggle in the house. The doors were locked and there was no evidence of forced entry.

There was speculation that Mrs. Bowman may have surprised a prowler bent upon burglary but homicide Sgt. Virgil A. Peterson, in charge of the investigation, commented: "We have no leads, no suspects and can find no motive for the crime."

RED PLAN TO RULE AFRICA IS RELATED

Somali Youth Studying In Moscow Told Of Russia's 20-Year Proposal

BONN, Germany (AP) — A young African just returned from years of study behind the Iron Curtain says he was told in Moscow of a plan to bring Africa under Communist rule within 20 years.

Madhi Ismael, who represented Somali trade unions in Communist bloc countries, said this information came from Mukhedin Bakhitov, general secretary of the Soviet Afro-Asian Solidarity Committee, and Lev Soukhanov, a member of the solidarity committee.

"We still have a chance to save Africa from communism but in 10 or 15 years it may be too late," said Ismael, who is 23. He and five other Somali students were expelled from Czechoslovakia last month.

Ismael said he had been attracted to communism while studying on a scholarship in London in 1957. He became a candidate for party membership and was offered a scholarship to study in Czechoslovakia.

"After studying economics and political planning for four years, I came to realize that communism has no place in Africa," Ismael said.

"In Somali we fought the British and French imperialists but now I have learned that the Communists are the greatest imperialists. They are the worst."

Ismael said more than 200 young Somali Communists are studying in Moscow, 40 are in Peiping, 38 in East Germany and five to 10 in Poland. These Communists, he asserted are to form the cadre for Communist expansion in East Africa.

The West German government has granted Ismael's companion's one-year scholarships to study German and then will give them further aid to study at a German university.

Ismael asserts he plans to go home "to become an anti-Communist politician."

No Change Is Seen In U.S., Soviet Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Preliminary reports indicate Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko did not offer any new Kremlin position on Berlin in his conference with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, informed sources say. But a sudden change had not been expected.

The officials said they expect Thompson will be instructed to meet Gromyko again fairly soon in an effort to find a solution to the explosive problem.

President John F. Kennedy, who was kept informed in Palm Beach of the Moscow developments was described as believing it important to keep open the diplomatic contact with the Russians.

Thompson's first dispatch was said to have been a brief resume of yesterday's initial conversation. A lengthier account was expected to be available today.

State Department officials intended to study it carefully for any slight change in Gromyko's position which might point the way toward a new approach to the seemingly deadlocked dispute.

After Thompson's complete thoroughly new instructions will be dispatched to him on undertaking a follow-up session with Gromyko.

Gromyko's reported reiteration of the Kremlin line on Berlin did not come as any big surprise here.

The pattern of discussions with the Soviets in the past is that at the outset both sides expound their known positions.

East-West War Over Berlin Dims

By EUGENE KRAMER

BERLIN (AP) — East-West war over Berlin appears less likely than a year ago but look for new periods of crisis and tension ahead.

That seems to be the feeling of both Berliners and some Western officials.

Two reasons are heard why war seems more remote than in 1961.

U.S. SERIOUS

One is that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently takes more seriously than he did a year ago Western determination to defend West Berlin and its access routes. Khrushchev has withdrawn his deadline for signing a peace treaty with Communist East Germany and has not rattled his missiles recently.

The other reason is that the status quo in Berlin is more bearable to the Communists than the situation that existed a year ago.

Then thousands of refugees each month, including many technicians, teachers and students, were pouring out of East Germany through West Berlin. The satellite regime was threatened with collapse.

The Communists raised their border wall through the heart of the city in August. That dammed the tide of refugees to a trickle, solving their most critical problem.

EARLY IN YEAR

Some quarters expect new tension over Berlin early this year, particularly if the Communists find the West firmly opposed to concessions in the diplomatic probe now starting.

Some observers believe negotiations over Berlin could be long delayed in starting or break down along the way.

The Communists then could be counted upon to boost tension. The easiest way to manufacture a new crisis would be for the East Germans to harass traffic along the access routes to West Barlin across East German territory, or to interfere further with traffic between East and West Berlin.

Secrecy Lid Clamped On Crash Of U-2

PICAYUNE, Miss. (AP) — An Air Force rescue team plucked U-2 pilot Charles Stratton from a cypress tree in snake-infested swamplands near Picayune today.

Stratton, 32, an Air Force captain, was taken by ambulance to Keesler Air Force Base at Biloxi, Miss., 60 miles east of Picayune.

The Air Force clamped a tight secrecy lid over his removal from the swamp. His condition was not immediately determined.

Stratton's home is Detroit, but he lives at Del Rio, Tex., with his wife and two children.

Search teams continued to hunt through the swampy area west of Picayune on the Louisiana-Mississippi border for the wreckage of the single-seater U-2, similar to the plane which was downed over the Soviet Union in 1960 and created an international incident.

Capt. William N. Orr, deputy public information officer at Keesler, said the U-2 was attached to the 4080th Strategic Wing at Laughlin AFB. It was on a flight from Del Rio to Birmingham, Ala., and return.

The plane, in flames, crashed about 9:30 p.m. Witnesses reported seeing the fiery crash from as far away as New Orleans — 75 miles south-southwest of Picayune.

The U-2, a high-altitude plane became involved in a dispute between the United States and Soviet Union in May 1960 after Francis Gary Powers was downed over the Soviet Union. He was tried for espionage and is imprisoned in the USSR.

Stratton and Powers, a former Air Force officer, are friends.

Airlines End A Safe Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The scheduled airlines achieved in 1960 a flight safety record bettered only twice since flying became a major industry.

The Bureau of Safety of the Civil Aeronautics Board, reporting yesterday, said preliminary 1961 figures indicated a fatality rate, on the U.S. international and domestic air lines, of 0.29 deaths for each 100 million passenger miles.

This was the tenth consecutive year of a fatality rate of less than one per 100 million passenger miles. It compared with the 1960 fatality rate of 0.75.

Passenger deaths on the scheduled airlines totaled 150, including one person on the ground struck by a propeller.

AUTOMATICALLY

Castro Might Be Excommunicated

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A high Vatican prelate said today that Fidel Castro and certain officials of his regime have fallen under automatic excommunication.

Archbishop Dino Staffa, a leading expert on canon law in the Vatican secretariat of state, said excommunication had been incurred by Castro and all Cuban officials responsible for "impeding and imprisoning" Roman Catholic bishops in Cuba.

The statement by Archbishop Staffa was not a formal announcement but was given in reply to a newsman's questions.

NOT FORMAL

Archbishop Staffa, who is secretary of the Vatican's Sacred Congregation of Seminaries and Universities, said the excommunication had been incurred without formal announcement by the Vatican.

He said announcement of excommunication in these cases is normally made by the Pope himself. Vatican sources speculated that Pope John XXIII had made no announcement in an effort to avoid further strain in relations between the Vatican and Cuba.

CANON LAW

Archbishop Staffa said bishops had been impeded in their work in Cuba and had been imprisoned. He declined to give details.

Bishop Eduardo Boza Masvidal was expelled from Cuba along with 135 priests last September. At that time Vatican sources said Castro and his officials might have incurred automatic excommunication.

Archbishop Staffa said the excommunication was under a provision of Roman Catholic canon law imposing automatic excommunication upon any person who directly or indirectly impedes a prelate in the performance of his duties.

Effects of excommunication, briefly, are loss of the sacraments of the church and, in a broad sense, ostracism from the church of any person so punished. Pardon for this type of excommunication can be given only by the Pope or his delegate.

FIDEL CLAIMS CUBA IS READY FOR INVASION

HAVANA (AP) — Backed by modern Soviet-bloc weapons and Latin America's fastest air force, Fidel Castro says his armed forces await any new invasion "with a smile on our lips."

The Cuban prime minister showed off his new military equipment yesterday at a parade marking the third victory over the Batista dictatorship. He said that "Yankee imperialism" was the sole reason for Cuba's rearmament.

Highlights of the parade were three Communist-made MIG-19 jets which swept overhead with a flight of 18 MIG-15s or improved MiG-17s.

Rejection Due In Guatemala Honduras Bid

LONDON (AP)—Britain is planning another sharp informal rejection of Guatemala's claim to British Honduras—coupled with a public offer to discuss a solution of the century-old territorial dispute.

Informed sources said the British offer to talk is intended to counter threats by President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes to break diplomatic ties with Britain and to expel all British nationals unless the Guatemalan claim to British Honduras is recognized.

The Foreign Office so far has refrained from making any formal comment on Ydigoras' warnings. Informants expressed belief the Guatemalan leader has suddenly revived the territorial issue to divert attention from domestic difficulties.

Ydigoras reportedly said he would take the drastic step of breaking with Britain because of lack of progress towards a settlement. British officials say an offer to negotiate made by London two months ago still has not been picked up by Guatemala.

Western Samoa Becomes Nation

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Western Samoa has become the modern world's first independent Polynesian nation.

Ceremonie at Apia, the capital of the island group in the South Pacific, ended New Zealand's 48-year administration of the pre-World War I German colony.

With New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake in attendance, New Zealand's flag was lowered in Apia and Western Samoa's new flag—a southern cross on a red and blue background—was raised.

BAD-TEMPERED PENGUIN PRISONER

Desk Sergeant Louis Davidson, who runs into all kinds of gruff people in the course of his duties, backed away from a bad-tempered prisoner atop his desk in a Kansas City police station. Even Patrolman Kenneth Peters handled the bird with gloves. The penquin was found in an apartment house hallway last night. No one knows how it got there, but it had earlier been stolen from the Swope Park Zoo. A zoo official said: "Penquins are vicious. I'd sooner try to steal one of the tigers." (AP Wirephoto)

Rubirosa Gets Gate From Junta

SANTO DOMINGO, D. R. (UPI)—The new Dominican junta government announced last night it is canceling restrictions on free speech and free assembly imposed as an emergency measure last year.

Interior Secretary Felix Hermida Jr., said the "Tropic Voice" radio will be allowed to resume the political broadcasts which were halted three weeks ago.

Hermida also announced that the government is lifting the ban on public political rallies.

The dismissal of playboy-diplomat Porfirio Rubirosa was one of the first acts of the junta government, it was announced yesterday.

Rubirosa, a former ambassador who held the title "inspector of embassies," was one of a number of dismissed diplomats held over from the regime of assassinated former President Rafael L. Trujillo.

The international playboy's first wife was Trujillo's daughter Flor de Oro. He later married French actress Danielle Darrieux and American millionairesses Doris Duke and Barbara Hutton. He is now married to the former Odile Rodin.

New Year Show Performed For Prison Inmates

The biggest New Year show in Marin County was available only at a mighty high price.

To see a 40-act "Show of Stars" stretching over six hours of entertainment Monday, you had to be an inmate of San Quentin Prison and possessing full privileges for good behaviour.

An estimated 2,900 inmates, more than half the total population, were able at one time or another to crowd into the North Dining Hall to observe part or all of the show starting at 10 a.m. and continuing until 4 p.m.

Prison officials said the show, produced by William Van Ornum, San Francisco theatrical booking agent, with the aid of an "executive committee" drawn from the entertainment world, was the 47th such New Year presentation and perhaps the biggest ever.

Crash Study On Tunnel Ordered

The City of San Rafael faced with a Jan. 25 Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on abandonment of Northwestern Pacific Railroad's link to the north, last night ordered a $5,000 "crash program" of engineering and economic studies to present to the ICC.

Jacobs and Associates, headed by J. Donovan Jacobs of Greenbrae, and the affiliated firm of J. P. Hawke and Associates will make the studies.

The city had urged an early hearing on the railroad abandonment proposal, and enlisted the aid of Senators Clair M. Engle and Thomas H. Kuchel and Rep. Clem Miller toward getting it. But city officials were surprised at receiving notice from the ICC yesterday that the hearing has been set for Jan. 25 at 9:30 a.m. in the New York Building in San Francisco.

Jacobs was present last night as the council (with Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman David Menary Jr. absent) gave him and his associates a unanimous go-ahead to prepare the presentations. City Manager Dan E. Andersen announced he, Jacobs, and Boris H. Lakusta, the city's special counsel in the railroad case, would meet with the California Public Utilities Commission this morning to go over the status of the PUC's independent studies of the railroad abandonment.

Pointing out that only 19 working days—including Saturdays — remain before the hearing date, Jacobs said "it will have to be a crash program."

The Greenbrae engineer gave the council a new slant on the proposal when he said:

"That partially caved-in tunnel is quite a hazard to life . . . Whether the railroad abandons service or not, don't let them just walk off and leave it. . . .

"Also, it's my educated guess that it would cost just about as much to fill it as to restore it."

(The railroad has claimed it would cost over $900,000 to restore the Puerto Suello tunnel, which caved in during a fire last July 20. It claims such expense is not justified by the revenues of the line serving its headquarters city of San Rafael.)

City Manager Dan E. Andersen pointed out there is an apartment house with six tenants (the Chula Vista Apartments) directly atop the tunnel.

"Someday it's going to cave in the rest of the way," predicted Jacobs.

Hawke, who appeared before the council last week, had estimated a cost of $9,000 to $10,000 to prepare engineering and economic surveys of what would be entailed in permanently abandoning the now out-of-service rail link.

Jacobs said not enough time remains for the type of surveys envisioned in that proposal, and estimated the crash program at $4,400 to $5,000. The council directed City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw to draw up an agreement for the mayor's signature, and received Jacob's assurance he would get started without waiting for the formal document.

"We're not here seeking a job as a job," Jacobs told the council. "We're here to see that the City of San Rafael and the people of Marin County get a fair analysis of their case."

Burglars Loot Woolworth Home

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Burglars have looted the sumptuous winter home of Norman B. Woolworth of the variety store family.

The New Year's Eve burglary was discovered Monday by caretakers who live nearby. Police say they are having trouble determining just what was taken.

Woolworth, nephew of the founder of the F. W. Woolworth Stores, said there were no jewels in the two-story home on Indian Creek Drive.

Reached at his New York apartment, he told the Miami Herald: "I understand they took furs, china and silver and several paintings. And my clothes. They were crazy to take my clothes. They got stuck."

SAVED FROM HOTEL FIRE

Hospital stewards assested an elderly resident of the Hale Hotel after he had been rescued as flames swept through the hotel on Mission Street in San Francisco today. One man died and several persons were injured as a result of the blaze. (AP Wirephoto)

Mill Valleyan Arraigned In Assault

Mill Valley insurance adjuster George W. Rourke Jr., 52, who nearly shot Police Chief Dan Terzich with a .38 caliber revolver last Friday, faces a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

He was arraigned on the charge before Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Municipal Court yesterday and won a continuance until next Tuesday when he will plead.

A 20-year-old college of Marin student, who battled officers New Year's morning, also won a continuance until next Tuesday. James Carl Dewitt of Ukiah, who rents a room in San Rafael, was spotted weaving through Fairfax in his car. Police and Dewitt battled police from Fairfax and San Anselmo and fought all the way to the county jail. Dewitt is charged with felony assault, drunken driving and resisting arrest. Charges of assault with a deadly weapon and attempted murder, which were included in his jail booking, were dropped.

Syria's El Khouri Succumbs At 84

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Faris El Khouri, Syria's elder statesman, died last night. He was 84.

The veteran politician had been ill 20 months.

Khouri headed four Syrian cabinets and served three terms as parliament speaker. He was a former president of the U.N. Security Council.

Paper Route Money Returned To Owner

A wallet containing $70.15 in collections from a newspaper route was returned to its 16-year-old owner yesterday after being found in Boyd Park by the park custodian.

Lost by John Arthur Troup of 19 Blossom Street, San Rafael, on New Year's Day, the wallet was found by Al Frey, park caretaker.

Shetland Pony Wanders Away

A shetland pony worth $1,500 to $2,000 wandered away from its Sleepy Hollow owner on New Year's Day, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Owner William W. Ashley of 211 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow, said the pony was last seen near the Circle V Ranch in Fairfax. The pony is chestnut colored and has a white face.

ed in open meetings," Smith answered.

Marshall then asked Smith to tell the people how the board reached its decision.

Smith said he was "at a loss as to what you are referring to."

Marshall said he would not say to what he referred without written consent of Smith authorizing a public airing of what went on in the series of closed meetings held by the board with the superintendent.

He then claimed the Brown Act forbids the board members from disclosing what went on in executive session "without the written consent of the person involved."

(The Ralph M. Brown Act, California's anti-secrecy statute contains no word of any such prohibition. It permits, but does not require, closed sessions to discuss hiring, firing, or hearing charges against an employee.)

Trustee Marett B. Boissevain Jr. accused Marshall of being "unfair to the superintendent in asking this."

Trustee William Kirh said that until negotiations are finished, "nothing should be said."

Smith read from the Brown Act the portion providing that a board may hold executive sessions on firing, hiring or hearing charges against an officer or employee "unless such officer or employee requests a public hearing."

"I have no objection to this being made public," Smith repeated.

Leo Mindling, a former trustee, interjected that the matter belonged "in the hands of the board" and should be discussed "in a locked room."

Trustees Boissevain and Leonora M. Dougherty declared they felt what had been said in closed sessions could be made public.

They yielded, however, to Marshall's insistence on a closed hearing—with the unusual proviso that a gagged press would be permitted to attend.

ments, carefully worked out by comparisons with pay in comparable counties, "justifiable demands which will not lead to other justified demands."

"I feel very strongly that these are due now to be corrected," he summed up.

Mitchell said 90 to 95 per cent of those affected could be covered by resolution and the balance should be awarded technical promotions. The final action, unanimous on motion of Behr, was to direct that the necessary documents be prepared for final action next week.

The 107 include seven appointed department heads—the directors of public works and public health, welfare and planning directors, county probation officer, communications supervisor and fire chief.

Mitchell called special attention to the case of Welfare Director Betty Presley, going from range 31 to range 34 ($735-$930 as against $846-$1,075). Mitchell termed this "a conservative recommendation" considering differential over employees supervised, relationship with other department heads, and relationship to comparable salaries elsewhere.

Homes Entered, Nothing Taken

Mill Valley police received reports yesterday of a break-in and an attempted break-in of Mill Valley homes but in neither case was anything taken.

Mrs. G. P. Martens of 150 Eldridge Avenue reported someone had broken into her home through a door while she was away. Nothing had been taken or disturbed, she said.

Robert Cruickshank of 41 Glenn Drive reported someone had attempted to break into his house but apparently was scared away by a barking dog. Cruickshank said his double front door had been pushed open but everything was in order.

OBITUARIES

Frank Albrecht Dies At 43

Frank Albrecht, San Rafael business executive stricken with a bleeding ulcer while on a business trip to southern California last month died New Year's Eve in a Los Angeles hospital, it was disclosed today.

Albrecht, 43, died of complications following surgery to stem internal hemorrhaging. He had received 150 blood transfusions, most of which were supplied by neighbors and friends in San Rafael who answered an appeal for blood donations issued by the Marin County Blood Center last week.

"My family and I will never adequately be able to express our appreciation to the people who responded so generously to our appeal," said his wife, Mrs. Mabel Albrecht, on returning to San Rafael from Los Angeles today. "I do want everyone to know how grateful we are and I shall try to thank the donors personally as soon as possible."

Albrecht was sales manager for Remington-Rand Corp. in San Francisco. A native of Michigan, he had made his home at 270 Arias Street in San Rafael for the past three years.

He was a member of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks in Seattle, Wash. He was a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Francis Albrecht, and two daughters, Mary Patricia and Deborah Albrecht, all of San Rafael; his mother, Mrs. Catherine Albrecht of Michigan; a brother, LeRoy Albrecht of Michigan, and a sister, Mrs. Marjorie Reed of Los Angeles.

A Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Friday at Blessed Sacramento Church, Santa Venetia. The funeral cortege will leave Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, at 9:15 a.m. Interment will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The Rosary will be recited tonight at 8 o'clock at the Keaton chapel.

EARL TRIMBLE

Earl James Trimble, 54-year-old retired dispatcher for the Yellow Cab Co. in San Rafael, was found dead in his home at 321A Bayview Street, shortly after 2 a.m. today.

San Rafael police, called by his wife, Mrs. Mary B. Trimble, found Trimble lying on a sofa in his living room, the lower half of his body covered by a blanket. Mrs. Trimble said she had retired about 10 p.m. and her husband had stayed up to watch television.

Trimble had been operated on for cancer last March, she said. He was under a doctor's care and had been examined twice yesterday, Mrs. Trimble told police.

Trimble had been a Marin county resident for nine years, and was born in Iowa.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Harry M. Williams mortuary, San Rafael.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Raymond J. Bell, Mill Valley, and Mrs. Richard Driggs, Cotati; three sisters, Mrs. Robert Evans and Mrs. Robert Silvestri, San Francisco, and Mrs. Henry, Sacramento, and two brothers, Richard Pavelac and Leo Trimble, plus five grandchildren.

HURBERT WYATT

Memorial services for Hurbert Daniel Wyatt, 83, father of Fred Wyatt, Independent-Journal reporter, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at St. George's Episcopal Church in Seattle.

The senior Wyatt died Sunday night of cancer in a Seattle hospital.

Cremation will be at Bleitz Funeral Home, and inurnment at Washelli Cemetery in Seattle.

SEREPHINE SILVA

Serephine Silva, a Marin dairyman for 25 years, died yesterday at a local hospital after an illness of three years.

Silva, a native of St. George Island, Azores, had worked on ranches at Bolinas, San Rafael, Ignacio and Santa Rosa. He worked at the Manuel Pimental ranch at Ignacio until 1948 when he joined his son, Jack Silva, on the latter's ranch in Santa Rosa. Leaving Santa Rosa in 1950, he lived with his son, Jack, for a period in San Rafael and later in Mill Valley at 16 Ryan Avenue.

He arrived in Marin at the age of 25 and first worked on the Ramilho Ranch and Silveira Ranch at Bolinas; then on the Freitas Home Ranch, in the area now called Terra Linda; then for the M. F. Cordoza Tunnel Ranch just north of San Rafael.

Silva's wife, Gertrude, died about 40 years ago.

Silva is survived by four sons, Joseph Silva of Oakdale, Manuel Silva of Merced, Jack and George Silva of Mill Valley; five daughters, Mrs. Rose Souza and Mrs. Mary Victor of Merced; Mrs. Lucile Hedrick of Chico; Mrs. Veronica Pedro of Lathrop, and Mrs. Lena Cordoza of Merced. Also surviving him are 20 grandchildren and many great-grandchildren.

A blessing will be said at 9:30 a.m. Friday for Silva at the Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley. A Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the chapel. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

MISS BLUXOME

Cornelia Bluxome, former owner of the Office Towel Co. of San Francisco, died yesterday at her San Rafael home after a long illness. She was 85.

A native of San Francisco, Miss Bluxome had resided at 42 Edgewood Way for the past six years. Until she made her home in San Rafael, she had maintained a summer residence in Greenbrae for many years.

Miss Bluxome sold her interest in San Francisco's Office Towel Co. 15 years ago when she retired from active business.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary Manning of Oakland, and a brother, Dr. Miers Bluxome of Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Inurnment will be private.

MERYL BEVANS

Funeral services for Meryl Paul Bevans, 57, retired Sonoma County rancher and brother of W. B. Bevans of San Quentin, were held on New Year's Day in Potter Valley, Sonoma County.

He died last Friday in a Ukiah hospital.

Bevan was born in Ukiah and resided in Potter Valley. He leaves his wife, Lois; a daughter, Mrs. Lois Jane Flores of San Jose; a sister, Mrs. Marcella Dewey of Oakland, and three grandchildren, in addition to his brother.

FRANCIS BARRY

Francis Edward Barry, 77, of 1300 Chase Street, Novato, died yesterday at his home after a long illness.

Barry was born in Newark, N.J., Dec. 5, 1884. He served as a boatswain's mate second class during the Spanish-American War. He worked as a private investigator until his retirement 18 years ago. He moved to San Francisco in 1915, and to Novato in 1947.

He was a member of John H. Harris Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, and Donald V. Westlund Post 7816, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He is survived by his wife, Kathleen, of the home; three daughters, Miss Faire Barry and Mrs. Phyllis Stewart of Novato and Mrs. Charles J. Warner, of Petaluma; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Ronan, Mrs. Loretta Smith, Mrs. Regina Mulvey and Mrs. Anne Lewis of North Arlington Heights, N.J., and three grandchildren.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 o'clock tonight at the Redwood Chapel, Novato. Memorial services by the Donald V. Westlund Post, VFW, will follow.

A Requiem High Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church, Novato. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Memorial contributions to the building funds of Our Lady of Loretto Church would be appreciated by the family.

CHARLES ORR

A Requiem Mass for auto salesman Charles Sumner Orr will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Friday at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo.

Orr, 43, died Monday at an Oakland hospital after a brief illness.

A native of San Rafael, he had resided for the past 12 years on Lagunitas Road in Ross.

He was a salesman for Campbell Bishop Chevrolet Co., Mill Valley, during the past 10 years. He was a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Ethel; two children, Kevin, 11, and Denise, 9; his mother, Mrs. Jane Chapman Orr of San Rafael, and a sister, Mrs. Virginia Orr Booth of LaCanada, Los Angeles County.

The funeral cortege will leave the Chapel of the Hills mortuary, San Anselmo, at 9 a.m. Interment will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the mortuary. Memorial gifts to the Marin County Cancer Fund are preferred by the family.

JAMES TALLEY

Funeral services for Marin City laborer James T. Talley will be held at noon tomorrow at the Frank J. Keaton Mortuary, Sausalito.

Talley, 41, died Saturday at a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Texas, Talley had made his home for 15 years in building 26 at Marin City. He was employed for the past six years as a laborer for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. He was a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Eloise; a son, James C. Talley; a brother, Charles Armstead; and two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Lockett and Mrs. Betty Oliver, all of Marin City.

Interment will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

MRS. CUMMISKEY

Catherine Springett Cummiskey, a former Belvedere and Sausalito resident, died yesterday in a Santa Maria hospital after long illness.

Mrs. Cummiskey, 85, lived in Belvedere and Sausalito between 1923 and 1941. She was born in Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Cummiskey was a member of Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305, Mill Valley, and of the Veteran Rebekah Chapter of San Francisco. She was past matron of Magnolia Chapter 73, Order of Eastern Star, at Gilroy.

Funeral services, under auspices of the Eastern Star, will be held at 10 a.m. at the Masonic-Odd Fellows Cemetery, Gilroy.

Surviving Mrs. Cummiskey are two sons, Rowland Thomas Springett of Fairfax and Roy Arthur Springett of Mill Valley; a daughter, Mrs. Grace Sandy of Surf, Santa Barbara County; five grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

LeROY CHAPIN

Funeral services are pending at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael for LeRoy Robert Chapin, 49, caretaker at the Bolema Club in Bolinas, who died of a heart attack at the club house New Year's Eve.

His wife, Georgia K. Chapin of Box 35, Bolinas, was to appear at Keaton's today to make arrangements for the funeral. She said her husband had a past record of heart trouble and was under the care of a Daly City doctor.

Chapin collapsed near the generator shed outside the Bolema Club Sunday afternoon. Friends, including Stanley F. Jacobson of San Francisco, carried him into the main building of the clubhouse. They tried to give him heart pills, but were unable to revive him.

A native of New York, Chapin and his wife had been caretakers at the Bolema Club since Oct. 15.

Major Banks To Increase Savings Interest

Major banks—including four with branches in Marin County—today announced an increase in interest paid on savings deposits from 3 to 3½ per cent.

At the same time, they announced a new plan which will pay 4 per cent interest on annual savings certificates, as separate from the usual time savings deposits which can be withdrawn at will.

The increase will be paid by Bank of America, Wells Fargo American Trust Co., Crocker-Anglo National Bank and United California Bank. Central Valley Bank, which has a branch in Novato, had announced the increased rate earlier.

COMPETITION

The move was considered part of efforts by banks to get on a better competitive footing with savings and loan firms. These generally pay 4½ per cent in California.

Federal agencies approved a maximum 4 per cent figure on bank savings accounts in December. Several smaller California institutions acted shortly thereafter.

The 3½ per cent rate will be computed daily and compounded quarterly, a break for depositors whose balances fluctuate. The new rates are effective as of Jan. 1.

Bank of America said it would pay 4 per cent on balances maintained over a 12 month period.

SIMILAR PLANS

Other firms were reported working out similar plans as an inducement for stable balances.

Savings and loan firms gave no immediate indication of whether they would move to increase their rates.

The Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. approved higher rates for banks partially to stem the flow of funds to foreign banks paying higher rates.

Some California banks were reported concerned that the higher rates would put strong pressure on their earnings. These bankers feel demands for bank loans are not so strong that interest rates charged borrowers could be raised to offset higher rates on savings.

Annex Plan Protested, Dropped

Annexation proceedings for three lots on Palm Hill between Corte Madera and Larkspur city limits were quickly halted last night by the Corte Madera Town Council.

Letters of protest from Fred O. Foster of 66 Walnut Avenue and Robert I. Slyter of 100 Walnut Avenue were read to the council by Town Clerk Naydeen Penny. Both felt their homes were more geographically part of Larkspur.

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow informed the council that since a majority (two) of the home owners did not want annexation to Corte Madera, the matter would have to be dropped. Brandow said a total of $55 was spent by the town in an attempt to annex the property.

Said Councilman Edward H. Colthurst: "I have said before, and I say again, annexation proceedings before the people are contacted is a waste of taxpayers' money.

Shell Speaks In Marin County; Rips Brown On Taxes, Jobless

Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles — who hopes to defeat former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former Governor Goodwin J. Knight for the Republican nomination for governor — made his first campaign appearance in Marin County.

He addressed nearly 100 members of the Marin division of the Republican Alliance at a breakfast meeting at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera.

California is suffering from "a declining rate of industrial expansion," Shell asserted.

He blamed the rising tax burden for the decline and said it results in increasing unemployment in the state. "Our population continues to increase as rapidly as ever, but industry isn't providing new jobs fast enough," he declared.

The Assembly GOP floor leader blamed Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his administration for a 35 per cent increase in state spending and an increase in the number of state employees from 95,000 to 125,000 in the past three years. He said rising state expenditures have increased the tax burden to 34 per cent of total income of business in the state.

He said construction industry sub-contractors have been especially hard hit by the "tax squeeze."

As governor, the 43-year-old father of five, said, he would "enjoy wielding the blue pencil" to veto unessential budget items in all departments of state government.

A governor cannot exercise his budget item veto power if he has one eye on re-election, said Shell, disclaiming any political ambitions beyond one term as governor.

He criticized Governor Brown's administration for excessive spending, "a soft approach on law enforcement," a "radical socialist" minimum wage program for agricultural workers, and for "tying his shoe laces together before trying to walk" on the capital punishment issue.

The World War II Navy pilot and former Rose Bowl football player asserted that people lack confidence in Brown's administration.

Shell was introduced by his Marin County campaign chairman William O. Wessich. President Henry B. Grandin of Marin Division, Republican Alliance, presided.

Fuchsia Society To Meet Friday

January meeting of the Marin County Branch of the American Fuchsia Society will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at Painters' Hall, Mission at Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

Mark MacDougall, vice president of the American Fuchsia Society, will speak on "Practical Pruning Methods for Home Fuchsia Gardens." Guests are welcome, said Mrs. C. Foster Clark, secretary.

Frozen Foods Up In Average Diet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Convenience foods are playing an increasingly important role in the average American's diet.

Per capita consumption of fresh vegetables dropped to 99 pounds this year from 115 pounds in 1950, Business Week reports. The average intake of frozen fruit alone has jumped from 4.3 pounds in 1950 to 9 pounds in 1961.

County School Staff Pay Hikes Postponed

Action on a recommended salary increase for members of the county school staff was postponed by the Marin County Board of Education at its first 1962 meeting last night.

A report from trustee Arnold Dolcini, chairman of the salary committee, recommended an increase of $300 to $500 per year for members of the staff of the county superintendent and teachers employed by the county, to "bring them to the level of similar positions in the districts."

Trustee Harry N. Press wanted to know what the overall cost would be. Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said it would be shown in the budget to be submitted at the February meeting. The board then decided to hold the subject until that time.

Trustee Alce N. Rust was appointed to join a group of local educators which will meet once a week during the upcoming session of the state legislature to discuss legislation affecting school matters.

The appointment was agreed upon after reading of a letter from Robert W. Corlett of the Marin County School Boards Assn., suggesting the program.

In other business, the trustees:

1. Heard a report from Dr. Charles Nagel, co-ordinator for the department of health, physical education, recreation and safety on his attendance at the third National Conference of the Medical Aspect of Sports at Denver. Dr. Nagel noted that a similar local clinic will be co-sponsored in Marin on March 10 by the county school department and the Marin Medical Society. The Denver meeting, he said, condemned the Little League practices of allowing players to pitch curve balls and to slide into bases.

2. Approved life diplomas for James Louis Larsen and James V. Clark, and temporary certificates for teachers Shirley M. Young, Sandra Bangsgaard, and Leonard Rodney Lundquist.

3. Was informed of the hiring of Dr. George Ebey, of Ebey and Associates at a cost of $1,600 for six months to aid in a survey at College of Marin on the potentials for job placements of its students.

4. Accepted these gifts to special education classes: from Marin County Delta Zeta Alumnae, $34.00 and $80.00 for Deaf and Hard of Hearing; a TV set and toys from Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kubon for the Point Class, and lumber for shelving from Hess Lumber for the same class.

5. Accepted resignation of Royal E. Druba, supervisor of transportation and maintenance. Instead of naming a replacement, senior driver Mrs. Glenna Glass was given the added responsibility at a salary of $420 per month.

6. Was given a demonstration of the "new look" in mathematics training by general consultant Abe Milstein, after which board president Mrs. Adele J. Alpers commented "I'm more confused than I was before."

Corte Madera Retirement System Gains

The Corte Madera Town Council last night called for draft of a resolution of intention for adoption of a retirement system for town employees.

The council unanimously instructed Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow to call for the draft from the state employees retirement system.

Before passage of the retirement system, the council agreed to sit with the 15 town employees and provide them with complete explanations of the proposed system. A state representative will attend. The employees will vote on whether they wish the plan.

Councilmen stressed that the call for resolution draft does not obligate them to adopt the plan if the employees are not in favor.

In other business, the Corte Madera Town Council:

1. Was presented with a detailed breakdown of various ways of financing a proposed $325,000 municipal bond issue by Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis. The council agreed, on suggestion of Councilman Charles F. Pendleton, to study the plans and report their views at the next council meeting, Jan. 15.

2. Was told by Mayor Albert E. Kogler he would present a plan for reorganization of the Marin Council of Mayors at the next meeting Jan. 31, which will be held in Corte Madera.

3. Put over until the Jan. 15 meeting discussion of possible violation of the town's fill and grading ordinance at request of Don O'Neill, owner of the House and Patio Shop at 5804 Paradise Drive, who is charged with the violation. O'Neill was out of town and requested the postponement by letter.

4. Put over to the next meeting a report on the Army Corps of Engineers survey for flood control of Corte Madera Creek.

5. Put over to the Feb. 5 meeting a report from the health and welfare committee on a proposed animal control ordinance.

6. Instructed the town manager to proceed with completion of the fifth annual report for the town.

Council Says Hands Off Meadowsweet

The Corte Madera Town Council last night decided to "keep hands off" possible rezoning of a section of the Meadowsweet area which is outside the town limits.

The council received a letter from the Meadowsweet Improvement Assn. asking for support in opposing rezoning from limited agricultural to multiple residential. The rezoning is scheduled to come before the county planning commission later this month.

Frank S. Southerland, owner of the 3.34-acre piece of property, was on hand for the council discussion. He was relieved the council would not ask the planning commission not to rezone, although councilmen said they felt the area should not be made more densely populated.

The council said it had gone on record in 1959 on opposition to making the area more densely populated when apartment houses were being built in the area.

"It is going to be a long-drawn-out fight to get the area rezoned," said Southerland.

Artist-Author Accidentally Shoots Self

SUGAR LOAF, N.Y. (UPI) — Kurt Seligman, 61, artist, author and costume designer, killed himself accidentally yesterday while shooting at animals stealing bird feed from his backyard.

State police said Seligman slipped down three steps leading from his summer home into the backyard. They said his .22 caliber rifle discharged and struck him in the head.

After an autopsy at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, Orange County Coroner William F. Hanley issued a ruling of "accidental death."

Seligman's wife, the former Arlette Paraf, found the body. State police said the rifle and Seligman's eyeglasses were by his side in the snow.

Mrs. Seligman told state police her husband, who was a birdwatcher, frequently shot animals which stole feed from the birds.

Seligman, whose paintings have been exhibited in most of the world's art capitals, was the author of "The Mirror of Magic," a study of magic through the ages, and of many magazine stories. He illustrated many books and designed costumes for two surrealistic ballets, "The Golden Fleece" and "The Four Temperaments."

YMCA Course In Job Finding

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI)—The YMCA here is offering an eight-week course for young high school graduates who haven't been able to find jobs.

The course stresses proper attitudes, personal deportment, skills in speaking and writing and physical fitness. Six city businessmen will act as employment counsellors for the 40 young men presently taking the instruction.

"Some of the boys are of good intelligence but are just wandering around looking for jobs," said project director D. W. Roxburgh. "We hope to give them some skills with which to sell themselves."

Crash Aftermath

The McLaughlin family was reported in satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital today. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. McLaughlin of San Francisco and their two children were injured when their car left the road and rammed a tree on Lagunitas Road in Ross Monday.

City Playhouse Director Named

Robert Vance of 1155 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, has been appointed resident director of the City Playhouse at 234 McAllister Street, San Francisco.

Vance, who recently published a new children's play, will present his first production opening Friday. Entitled "The Velvet Glove," it is a story of tactics employed by the mother general of a girls' college in her campaign to prevent the local bishop from unjustly discharging a young professor.

The production will be performed every Friday and Saturday through January and every Saturday through February.

VARIANCE REQUEST OFF IN BELVEDERE

Because of opposition from neighbors, and to enable City Atty. William H. MacKay to study the problem, the Belvedere City Council last night postponed decision on a variance requested by Joseph C. Marshall until the February meeting.

Marshall seeks to reset the line between two lots he owns on Madrona Avenue. The existing building on one lot extends into the second lot and to acquire the necessary setback to make construction possible on lot No. 2, the line needs to be moved.

Opponents claim the resulting lot will be substandard. It would be slightly over 6,000 square feet. Belvedere's zoning ordinance requires 7,500 square feet per lot.

Marshall claims the lot was originally subdivided at a time when there was no square foot requirement and, as the parcels will remain essentially the same, the present regulation should not apply.

The variance had been approved by the planning commission.

MacKay was asked to determine if the present ordinance applies to the proposed resubdivision.

The council accepted city manager's recommendation that nothing be done about the proposed food handlers' ordinance at this time.

Concerned about a water shutdown on a recent Sunday on Peninsula Road, Leonard L. Born of 7 Peninsula Road suggested the council consider the doctrine of faultless liability.

Mayor Robert P. Watkins commented that the city is attempting to solve its water problems and because of happy relations with the Marin Municipal Water District would be reluctant to harry it over a broken water main.

Born also hinted that lagoon property owners are facing silt and weed problems and felt the group needed legal advice.

The council voted to buy false arrest insurance through the Peace Officers Assn. of California at $44 per year.

A proposal to install electrical equipment servicing the Cove Road pumping station underground instead of on a pole was turned down as an unnecessary expense. The cost to the city would be approximately $400.

Councilman H. Nordmark Williams was absent.

Zoning Strip On Larkspur City Agenda

The Larkspur city council will hold a public hearing on rezoning to commercial a strip on the west side of Magnolia Avenue, at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the city hall.

The area may be rezoned from commercial to multiple residential. The Larkspur planning commission has recommended approval of the rezoning.

Other items on the agenda include: public hearing on adopting uniform building, plumbing and electrical codes; discussion of improvement plans for the Larkspur plaza assessment district; possible appointment to the planning commission; proposed retirement system for city employees, and the annual report of building inspector William F. Wegner.

Reds Blamed For Portugal Revolt Try

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese Army Ministry today accused the underground Communist party of planning and leading the unsuccessful New Year's Day attempt to launch a revolt against Premier Antonio Salazar's regime.

"According to information and statements already collected from some participants in the Beja attempt at sedition, the conclusion is that it was an action planned and led by the Communist party, within a general plan of promoting unrest in Portugal," the communique said.

The communique said no other unrest or violence was reported from other military establishments.

At least 16 rebels who took part in the revolt attempt were still at large and the government pressed a hunt for them.

Authorities said about 40 men took part in the attempt to seize the army garrison at Beja early Monday.

Officials clamped tight security measures on known avenues of escape along the Spanish frontier in efforts to round up remnants of the gang. All police and military units remained in a "state of precaution."

The government said two insurgents were killed and 22 captured — including the two leaders of the band — in the uprising which collapsed after a three-hour gun battle with troops of the Third Infantry Regiment stationed in the Beja barracks.

Three of the best known Pilgrims, Myles Standish and John and Priscilla Alden, didn't live in Plymouth. They made their homes in Duxbury, across Plymouth Bay.

Brown Vows Help In Restoring Tax

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has promised help for local governments in efforts to restore franchise tax revenues and anti-vice laws upset by recent State Supreme Court decisions.

Brown met late yesterday with Richard Carpenter, executive director of the League of California Cities, and Los Angeles City Atty. Roger Arnebergh to discuss:

1. The recent Supreme Court decision interpreted as knocking out many municipal laws against vice on the grounds they conflicted with the intent of state statutes.

2. A proposal that the state levy a 1 per cent tax on the gross revenues of telephone companies, then turn over the funds to local government. It would replace revenue lost after the Supreme Court ruled cities and counties couldn't levy franchise taxes against the firms.

"I think we had a very satisfactory conference on both issues," said Carpenter.

Arnebergh, equally pleased, said the governor had "indicated he will give us his full support," in a petition for a rehearing of the court's vice decision.

Brown said earlier he is considering calling a special session of the legislature on vice laws if the petition fails.

Arnebergh said he had discussed legislation with the governor but "its precise nature hasn't been worked out."

Arnebergh said he favors a constitutional amendment that would permit counties to levy a 1 per cent tax on the phone companies' gross earnings from intrastate business.

"The governor indicated he will check into the matter with the Finance Department and let us know," Arnebergh said.

He estimated such a tax — turned down by the 1961 legislature — would give the local governments nine million dollars a year.

New Bay Area Magazine To Be Out Saturday

The first issue of the new magazine, Bay FM and Cultural Guide, is expected to be available at Bay Area newsstands by Saturday, according to editor John Sunier.

The magazine is being published at Graphic Arts of Marin, Inc. in Sausalito and is to be issued monthly.

Featured in the first issue will be a kickoff article by Ralph J. Gleason, jazz and popular authority and columnist. The cover will feature a portrait of Artur Rubinstein.

Sunier also announced that the magazine will include, in addition to the logs of Bay Area FM radio stations and the schedule of cultural events in the San Francisco vicinity, the log of education television channel KQED. A jazz calendar, record reviews, and articles on music and broadcasting will be other features.

Marines Complete Combat Training

Three Marine Corps privates from Marin completed four weeks of individual combat training last week at Camp Pendleton.

They are Garvis L. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don M. S. Martin of 1908 Fourth Street, San Rafael; David L. Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Jensen of San Quentin, and William G. Schendel Jr. of 87 Valley Road, San Anselmo.

Board Turns Down Sunny Hills Offer

Negotiations for acquision of part of the Sunny Hills site for the San Anselmo School District continued today—but with disparity between property offered and property wanted and between appraisals and prices asked.

At las night's meeting of the school district's board of trustees, board representatives reported the following proposals by Sunny Hills representatives:

School district consider buying 3¼ acres of the Sunny Hills site immediately behind a group of homes at Sonoma and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. This adjoins Isabel Cook School site and the city park and tennis courts.

The board rejected the offer, holding the site (1) would cause administrative, disciplinary and other problems, due to adjoining schools; (2) would block public access to the tennis courts and other city property in the area.

An offer to sell part of a site for $450,000 in the area also was rejected. The figure was placed at more than four times the official appraisal.

A claim for $150,000 for a leg fracture suffered in a fall at school Nov. 10 by Carlyle Lindsey, Brookside School third grade pupil, was disallowed and referred to the district's insurance agents. The claim was filed by the boy's father, Lyle Lindsey of 120 Morningside Drive.

A speech teacher is being sought for the district to replace Carole Wolfe, who resigned late in December.

One of four owners of properties sought for the Wade Thomas School expansion is asking $62,000 for his holding, the board heard. The board had estimated the value at $40,000 to $41,000.

Preliminary discussion of the 1962-63 salary schedule resulted in appointing trustees Philip Smith and Robert W. Corlett to conduct talks with teacher representatives.

Durante Baby Is Christened

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The baby that was brought to Jimmy Durante's doorstep Christmas Eve was baptized in a private ceremony yesterday.

The sacrament was given at St. Victor's Catholic Church in West Hollywood, where Durante and his wife Marge are parishioners.

The Durantes intend to adopt the youngster, Cecilia Alicia, who is less than a month old.

Hollywood columnist Louella Parsons was named godmother and Danny Thomas godfather.

'CAN'T AFFORD SHELTERS IN BELVEDERE'

Mayor Robert P. Watkins of Belvedere feels his city has too many other problems to be able to afford fallout shelters.

"If we build for 100 people, what happens to the other 2,900?" He asked at last night's city council meeting. "We can't possibly house the total population of Belvedere for any sum within our capacity to pay."

The question had been raised by Leonard L. Born of 7 Peninsula Road, who appeared before the council to suggest appointment of a subcommittee to consider the pros and cons of fallout shelters.

Watkins promised the council would discuss the matter at the next meeting.

Mosk Says He'll Seek Re-Election

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk today announced he will be a candidate for re-election, ending speculation that he might seek a judgeship or run for the U. S. Senate.

Mosk made his announcement at a press conference here and released an exchange of correspondence with the presidents of the three largest official state peace officers' organization, urging him to run.

The letters came from Sheriff M. J. Mayfield of Colusa, president of the California State Peace Officer's Assn.; Sheriff Sandy Robinson of Tulare, president of the California State Sheriff's Assn., and Lt. Thorvald Ted Brown, Oakland, president of the Northern and Central California Narcotics Officers Assn.

Tamalpais Valley Volunteers Elect

Herman Koolhoven was elected president of the Tamalpais Valley volunteer fire department last night to succeed Morrie Batz for a one-year term of office.

Roy La Boube was elected vice president; Edward Hayden, secretary, and Karl Zipf, treasurer.

Oklahoman In Line For House Leader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Carl Albert of McAlester, Okla., a one-time Rhodes Scholar, received a clear field today for election as Democratic leader of the House.

Albert's only challenger, Rep. Richard Bolling, 45, a liberal from Kansas City, Mo., decided to bow out of the race. This ended the possibility of the first struggle for the post in 21 years.

Bolling planned to announce his decision publicly at a news conference.

The 53-year-old Albert, now Democratic whip, will succeed Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts. McCormack, 70-year-old Boston Irishman, will be tapped as speaker at a party caucus Jan. 9, the day before Congress returns to work.

McCormack who has served in his present post for 21 years, has no opposition and appears likely to be promoted to the top spot by unanimous vote.

Bolling decided to abandon his race for the number two post after concluding that he had no chance of defeating Albert, associates said. Bolling, a consistent supporter of "Fair Deal" and "New Frontier" programs, had contended he could do more for Kennedy's program than Albert.

However, the new leadership team of McCormack and Albert have promised Kennedy most of what he wants from Congress next year.

38 In Peace Corps Going To Africa

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-eight Peace Corps volunteers are off for a two-year tour of duty in Sierra Leone, West Africa, to teach English, geography and math to secondary school students.

The volunteers, who average 28 years in age, left here by chartered plane Monday following 26 days of jungle living in Puerto Rico.

Earlier, they spent seven weeks at Columbia University where they studied American history, African subjects and Mende, the native language of Sierra Leone.

Chamber In Mill Valley Names Mayer As President For 1962

Lawrence A. Mayer is the new president of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds Jack R. Lentz, who was president during 1961.

Mayer, owner of Mayer's Ltd. at 2 Miller Avenue and of the Mayer's Ltd. Men's and Boy's Shop at 22 Miller Avenue, lives at 1 Upper Toyon Road, Kentfield.

He has been vice president of the chamber's board of directors for the past year and is also a past president of the Mill Valley Rotary Club.

He and other new officers will hold their first meeting Jan. 10 at noon in the board room of the Mill Valley School District at 26 Miller Avenue.

Date for installation of officers has not been set.

Other new officers elected by the board are Robert A. Walker, first vice president; Luciano A. Sabella, second vice president, and Leonard E. Blakely, reelected treasurer.

Directors, in addition to the officers, for 1962 are Charles F. Berlenbach Jr., Merrold M. Campbell, Donald W. Chapman Jr., Stephen P. Dimitroff, Gerald Gooch, and Lew Tyrrell. Retiring directions are Lentz, O. L. Greene, John Kobil and William Woods.

Mosk Issues Report On Narcotics Users

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk reported today that 19,243 persons were arrested for narcotics violations during 1960 and half of them were expected to be arrested again by 1962.

The lengthy report of the attorney general, "Narcotic Arrests and Their Disposition in California—1960," disspelled two beliefs about the narcotic traffic.

In the first place, Mosk said that only 133 arrests, or less than one per cent of the adult arrests, was for the sale of narcotics or drugs to a minor. The second was that 77.7 per cent of persons arrested as new addicts already had criminal records, indicating that persons are not driven to crime by narcotics, as often reported.

"The specter of a shadowy figure loitering about every school ground or other place where youths congregate, soliciting them and imploring them to use narcotics has possibly been grossly over-popularized," Mosk said. "In most instances the youth is probably enticed, or at least offered the opportunity for use, by someone on a more personal level."

On the other matter, Mosk said the data showing the prevalence of criminal histories among persons arrested as new narcotic addict-users "would seem to demonstrate that the narcotic offender is first a criminal before he becomes involved in narcotic activity."

"On this basis, the statement that narcotic offenders are forced into a life of crime to support their narcotic habit cannot be supported by the facts available," the report said.

More than one-third of the adult arrests in 1960 were for addiction or use, the report said. One out of every four arrests was for a marijuana offense.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
By Mary Lee Taylor

Cherry Banana Dessert

1 pkg. lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
3-oz. pkg. softened white cream cheese
¾ cup PET Evaporated Milk
¼ cup quartered maraschino cherries
9-oz. can crushed pineapple, drained
⅔ cup mashed ripe banana
½ cup broken nuts

In a 1½-qt. bowl dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Chill until very thick, but not set. In small bowl, mix cheese and milk until smooth. Stir cheese mixture, cherries, pineapple and mashed banana into chilled gelatin. Pour into 10 x 6-in. pan. Decorate top with nuts and maraschino cherries, if desired. Chill until firm. Cut into 8 servings.

EYESORE—Robert Hibbs of San Rafael looks at rat-infested rubbish dump beside Francisco Boulevard. Not far from this heap of refuse is a sign warning that dumping rubbish beside the street is a violation of city ordinance. City Councilmen Fred E. Jensen last night proposed that a reward be offered for information leading to arrest and conviction of litterbugs. (Independent-Journal photo)

Christopher Agrees On Riot Film

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mayor George Christopher says he agrees with a House Committee on UnAmerican Activities finding that the film, "Operation Abolition," presents a basically accurate picture of the 1960 City Hall riot.

The committee yesterday issued a point-by-point reply to 28 criticisms of the film, concluding that the Communist Party "has efficiently capitalized on the considerable number of attacks made on the film by uninformed or irresponsible non-Communists."

Noting that he attended 90 per cent of the committee hearings in San Francisco City Hall in May 1960, Christopher said he is satisfied that there was no police brutality in quelling the demonstration outside the hearing chambers.

The committee report said that all available film footage was carefully checked and no evidence of police brutality found.

Model Ordered Held On Charge Of Murder

Tears flowed from two beautiful models today in Marin Municipal Court as one of them was bound over to superior court to answer a baby-murder charge.

Antoinette (Toni) Wahlen, 22, San Francisco model, was ordered held on the murder charge after a closed preliminary hearing before Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court. She was in tears as she was led out of the courtroom into the district attorney's office.

Her room-mate, Fritzi Higgins, 21, a stunning brunette, emerged sobbing after being forced to testify as a prosecution witness. Her attorney, Albert E. Bagshaw of San Rafael, said Miss Higgins testified that Toni knew she was pregnant and planned to get medical attention at a relative's home in Southern California. Miss Higgins also testified that Toni expected her baby in January. The two models have been roommates about two years.

Miss Higgins, who is a fashion model for wholesale clothing firms in San Francisco, said questions put to her by Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales upset her.

Miss Wahlen was held in Marin County Jail without bail. Her attorney, William O. Weissich, said he planned to argue for bail this afternoon.

The body of a newborn boy was found Dec. 22 in a garbage can outside the apartment of disc jockey Bob Colvig, 121 South Street, Sausalito. The body had 17 stab wounds.

Yesterday Colvig testified that he and Miss Wahlen dined in his cottage on the night of Dec. 14 or 15. He said he then retired to his own bed and she slept on a couch in the same room. Colvig told the judge he slept from about 12:30 a.m. until about 9 a.m. and saw or heard nothing during the night.

Miss Wahlen told investigators she delivered the baby alone and disposed of the baby in the garbage can.

Rivers originating in the Canadian province of Alberta ultimately flow south to the Gulf of Mexico, north to the Arctic Ocean and east to Hudson Bay.

8 Boys Must Pay For Damage Spree

Eight boys, seven from Belvedere and one from Tiburon, were told with their parents to reimburse $23.16 each to the city of Belvedere at a hearing today before an investigating probation officer in San Rafael, where they appeared on charges of malicious mischief.

The boys, ranging in age from 14 to 16 years, had, according to Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woodington, caused $185 damage to properties.

They had acted together over a six-week period ending last week. They broke flasher lights, sewer pipe, and truck windows, and removed and destroyed flare pots, all in connection with work being done on beach road and San Rafael Avenue by McGuire and Hester Construction Co. of Oakland.

They also removed and broke five dozen electric light bulbs from a construction job on Beach Road.

San Rafael Wars On Litterbugs

Rewards for information leading to arrest and conviction of litterbugs were proposed at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen advanced the reward idea after City Manager Dan E. Andersen and Public Works Director Norris Rawles had asked for a statement of council policy to assist in curbing dumping of rubbish along roadsides.

City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw expressed doubt that a reward offer would do much good, but was instructed to prepare an ordinance proposal.

Andersen said promiscuous dumping along roadsides had been brought up at a meeting of city department heads. He asked that the council set a policy urging that all city employees keep a sharp lookout for litterers and take down and report their auto license numbers.

Rawles said he has two men working two days a week picking up debris "and we nowhere near get all of it."

Bagshaw said the council should give consideration to "providing an accessible place for dumping at reasonable cost." Without that, he said, enforcement efforts were not likely to be successful.

Councilmen, however, felt the reward offer might be worth a try. Jensen suggested perhaps $25 reward.

Red Armor-Piercing Weapon Is Captured

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — A high-powered armor-piercing Russian recoilless rifle, believed to be the first to fall into Western hands, has been captured from rebel Laotian forces in the Plain of Jars, a high-ranking Laotian officer reported today.

The officer told UPI that the weapon will be shipped to the United States for study by American experts.

Security restriction kept American officers here from commenting on the weapon. But its impending shipment to the United States was confirmed by reliable sources.

According to Red Army field manuals, the Soviet bazooka-type rifle can knock off a tank at a distance of 4,800 yards. Its shells reportedly can pierce 11½ inches of steel.

Royal Laotian Army Col. Bng Pao said pro-government Meo tribesmen captured the weapon last Dec. 22 on a mountainside four miles south of the Laotian rebel headquarters town of Xieng Khouang in the Plain of Jars.

He said the gun crew abandoned the weapon during fighting there.

A Soviet airlift brought in supplies for the Communist Pathet Lao during the height of the civil war last year.

Meantime, diplomatic observers looked to Washington for the next move in efforts to break the impasse in the Laotian "peace" talks resulting from rightwing Gen. Phoumi Nosavan's dogged defiance of his American backers.

Pitbull Trial Jury Selection Under Way

Selection of a jury to decide whether the Marinwood pitbulls are fighting or hunting dogs began this morning in Marin Municipal Court.

On trial on various charges of cruelty to animals are rancher Joseph Sequiera; his son, George, 21, and his nephew, Clem Sequiera, 21, all of 200 Miller Creek Road in Marinwood.

The trio are accused of throwing stray dogs in with their fighting dogs as "sparring partners." Sheriff's deputies and Marin County Humane Society officials raided the ranch on Oct. 25 after complaints by neighbors that they heard animals fighting and screaming. Found at the scene were a half dozen pit bulls and a dead German shepherd dog chained to a dog house.

The Sequieras are being defended by attorney William O. Weissich. They claim their dogs are hunting dogs, not fighters.

Jennings Smith Named To Commission

Jennings W. Smith of 45 Spindrift Passage was appointed to the Corte Madera Planning Commission by the Town Council last night.

Smith is manager of the accounting department for Matson Navigation Co. of San Francisco. He has been a Corte Madera resident for three years.

Candidates For City Attorney Are Discussed

Several candidates for the position of Sausalito city attorney were discussed last night in a closed meeting of the city council but no action was taken, Vice Mayor Howard Sievers said today. City Atty. John B. Ehlen announced last month his plans to retire on his being replaced by a successor.

The council will hold an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the city hall.

TAKING LOOK AT VOLCANO

In this unusual air-to-air photo, a Military Air Transport Service C-124 Douglas Globemaster flies low over the smoking Nihara volcano. The active volcano on Oshima Island is in Tokyo Bay. The huge C-124s are used as troop transports, carrying about 200 men. (UPI photo)

Duck! Here's The Tallest Tale Of 1961

BURLINGTON, Wis. (UPI)—Leave it to a Texan to come up with the tallest tale of 1961.

A story about wildlife has won the title of world's champion liar for C. R. Hutcheson of Lubbock.

The annual prize was given by the Burlington Liars' Club.

Hutcheson, whose letterhead says he deals in oil properties, wrote:

"For years I have been working to perfect a duck call. Satisfied with my laboratory tests, I recently decided to give it a field trial. The first time I blew the call the ducks swarmed in from all directions; the sky was black with them.

"I cut loose with my pump gun and with six shots killed my limit of six ducks. What is so strange about that, you say? Well, when I picked up those ducks I found out that three of them were decoys!" An honorable mention went to Ben Dotzenrod, Sharon, Wis., who wrote, "It was so cold out in Sharon township last winter that we had to put anti-freeze in the cows' drinking water to keep the milk from freezing in their udders."

Missing Novato Boy Returns Home

Rickey Craig Rosser, 13, reported missing from his home at 1011 Fourth Street, Novato, by his mother Mrs. Alice Mae Rosser, returned home yesterday, Novato police reported.

The boy said he had spent the night at playland in San Francisco.

AND 'PURPLE PEOPLE EATER'

Marin Youth Tells Of Division, Doubt On East-West Berlin Wall

No Man's Land in Berlin is an area extending 50 yards east of the wall, an area of barbed wire, trenches and anti-tank "tiger's teeth."

For 12 days E. W. Hildreth of Mill Valley walked the periphery of West Berlin, drove to points along the border of East Berlin and wandered through streets of both cities.

Hildreth, on a Sheldon Traveling Fellowship which is taking him around the world, is a son of Mrs. Freddie Hildreth of 84 Hill Street.

In a recent letter, Hildreth described some of the effects of the wall which he says underlines twin facts of day-to-day life in Berlin: Division and doubt.

Hildreth writes of an amusing episode which occurred when the Vopos (Volks Polizer) became irritated with a busload of rubbernecks (from the West) and sought to charm them with strains of the "Purple People Eater."

He said the Vopos play music on loudspeakers to drown out propaganda broadcasts from West Berlin sound trucks.

He said that while he was taking photographs from the wall top, a tear gas bomb was lobbed over the wall at him.

"Many things impressed me as I paced out the 25 miles of concrete and barbed wire encircling West Berlin: The powerful Reichstag, symbol of a repressed but unforgotten era, standing alone with its back to the wall, wet-eyed grandmothers waving handkerchiefs to friends and relatives on the other side.

"The Brandenberg gate, symbol of Berlin itself, now serving as a well-sealed barricade midway between Marx-Engels Platz and the Prussian Victory Column, a west-side shack city half a block from the barrier, proudly bearing the title, Kolonie Unversagt—Colony Undaunted—and complete with what we once called victory gardens.

"An old woman who led me through a bombed-out basement which served as a short cut connecting two blockaded streets adjacent to the wall. Some two dozen wreaths marking sidewalk graves of those who failed in fifth story leaps to the West—among them an 80-year-old woman and two seven-year-old girls. The battered truck of nine who successfully ran the barricades. The smell of tear gas. The armed tension of the checkpoints. The canals in whose icy waters several have sunk or swum westward. And the ominous smears on Ulbrich's wall, serving both as reminder and admonition—the letters KZ."

The only trouble, Hildreth said, he had in some 20-odd crossings from West to East Berlin was confiscation of a two-day old New York Times—"propaganda rag, I suppose."

The student concluded: "It is a mistake to view the East Berlin exodus in wholly ideological terms. An over-reliance on ideologically-orientated analysis and propaganda is a major failure in the reckoning and tactics of both sides today.

"Dissatisfaction with communism per se is at best a partial answer, at worst a gross distortion. The overwhelming majority of those who flee are members of separated families, and it is primarily the desire for familiar reconciliation to which most flights must be attributed. Words and ideas seldom spur men into risking their lives; emotions do."

Negroes Leave South For Other Parts Of Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 1.5 million Negroes left the South for other parts of the country during the 1950s, the Census Bureau said today.

The bureau said the net migration of non-whites from the South, amounting to 1,457,000, was a record for any decade and compared with 1,245,000 during the 1940s.

Most of the non-white who left the South moved to the North.

The state recording the largest in-migration of non-whites was California with 354,000.

Mill Valley Boy Injured On Bike

Michael Gill, 14, of 371 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, was taken by ambulance to Marin General Hospital at 11:38 a.m. Sunday after he skidded and fell while riding his bicycle at 478 Molino Avenue. He was checked over and released.

Rober Dennis, 40, of Berkeley, driving north on Molino, told police the boy came down the hill very fast, lost control of his cycle at the curve and skidded 20 feet. The bike struck Dennis' car.

Cole Resigns From County Education Unit

The Marin County Board of Education last night honored former trustee Theodore V. Cole of Novato in accepting his resignation, but failed to replace him, after trustee Harry N. Press revealed that only one application had been received.

The board agreed that a time extension was in order, and set a deadline of Feb. 15 to receive further applications or recommendations.

Trustees expressed their gratitude to Cole and commended him for his "devoted service to the Marin County Board of Education and to public education in Marin County."

Applicants for the position must reside in the Novato Unified or San Jose Elementary School Districts. They may be recommended by groups or individuals, or may apply themselves, Press noted. The application or recommendation should contain a background of the person, and a brief statement of why he or she is suitable for the post.

San Rafael Council Wants To See Landscape Plans

San Rafael city councilmen decided last night they'd like to see some proposals from landscape architects before authorizing $1,200 for a plan for landscaping the city's newly acquired Glenwood Park.

Recreation Director Joseph Rodota asked that the $1,200 be allocated from $2,000 budgeted for initial work on the six-and-one-half acre park site at Robin Hood and Maplewood Ways. Rodota said this would include detailed planning and engineering.

Councilmen Fred E. Jensen and Louis H. Baar contended that much of what Rodota wanted done could be performed by the city's own engineering and planning departments. Rodota insisted a professional park planner was needed. He was backed by Vice Mayor Charles W. Aby, presiding in the absence of Mayor John F. McInnis.

Jensen's proposal that landscape architects be invited to present offers finally won the approval of all three. He suggested that a special appropriation be made for whatever planning is found necessary, with the $2,000 left intact for actual work on the park.

There was no dispute over another matter connected with Glenwood Park. The three councilmen present unanimously authorized Deputy City Clerk Walter C. Cornwell to request the county board of supervisors to cancel the second installment of taxes on the property ($246) because it has been acquired by the city.

Also at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting:

1. Calvin C. B. Wheeler's proposal for rezoning of the 26½-acre Terra Linda Meadows from unclassified to planned community, including two-story apartments and single-family homes, won a favorable response from the councilmen, who introduced an ordinance for the rezoning.

2. Bids on six 25-watt output mobile radio units and a 50-watt output base transmitter were called for Feb. 5. The council has budgeted $3,700 for the equipment.

3. Hearing on annexation of the San Pedro School to the city, requested by the San Rafael Board of Education, was set for Feb. 5.

4. A proposal by Chief Building Inspector Andrew Thomas to place all lands except those zoned for single-family and duplex dwellings in fire zone was referred to the fire commission and planning commission.

5. Hearing on adoption of the 1961 edition of the Uniform Building Code was set for Jan. 15.

6. City Manager Dan E. Andersen reported the arbitrators called in a dispute with Shell Trailer Rental Co. over a lease of city land had agreed unanimously on a rental of $430 per month, and the talent had accepted the decision.

7. On recommendation of Chief Building Inspector Thomas, Morrison Green was advanced to assistant chief building inspector, at an increase in salary from $520 to $550 per month.

8. Discussion of an agreement with the county on sharing cost of improving "through" streets was postponed to Jan. 15 because of the absence of Mayor McInnis.

Behr Pledges Marin City Faster Work

Says Project Should Be The Pride Of County

County Supervisor Peter Behr yesterday pledged to "do my best to see that Marin City is completed as planned so that it will be of pride to Marin County instead of a disgrace."

Behr criticized present Marin City conditions during discussion which accompanied adoption by the supervisors of a "workable program" presented by Planning Director Mary Summers as prerequisite to further federal funds for renovation of the wartime housing project.

Behr demanded indication from the other four members that they would do everything possible to have Marin City brought to high standards "according to plan." Supervisor William D. Fusselman declared such has been "the continuous policy of the board."

"Delays," Fusselman added, "have not been at the county but at the federal level."

Behr expressed doubt that the board has moved as fast as it could.

"These people have been waiting" in "old lousy buildings . . . 300 people are living in old beat-up facilities," he declared.

Housing Authority Director Bert Klahn added, "Stuck in the mud."

Supervisor Walter R. Castro, who had just been elected chairman, expressed agreement in principle with Behr and called for a poll of the board.

"We've done everything in our power," said Supervisor George Ludy. But Supervisor William Gnoss said, "Some conditions should be improved. Anything we can do to persuade the authorities to move faster is to the good."

Attorney Leland H. Jordan, for the housing authority, said $400,000 has been invested in housing for sale and another $400,000 will be spent this year.

Adoption of the "workable program" brought in by Mrs. Summers was a prerequisite, he said, and with submission of this plan the federal authorities might be expected to go ahead with construction this spring.

Jordan said that construction of low-rental housing has been finished and some 300 units are available. Originally 1,500 families lived in Marin City, he said, and now there are 600—300 in the low-rent housing and others in temporary housing awaiting a chance to buy units to be built.

"So we've taken care of 600," said Fusselman.

"Six hundred have moved out and 300 are living in old beat-up facilities," Behr countered. "Anyone who says those last are anything but a slum area makes me angry."

"There is no great difference of opinion," said Jordan. "We don't contend that the buildings are adequate and all will be replaced with construction starting soon."

"We're waiting and hoping," said Behr.

Alameda Would Plan Own Transit

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Alameda County Board of Supervisors, the only board so far to approve the Bay Area Rapid Transit System, suggested yesterday that its county may have to develop its own system.

San Mateo has rejected the Bay Area plan, and extension of the proposed system to Marin County is in doubt pending a study of the Golden Gate Bridge's capacity to handle rapid transit trains.

Alameda supervisors said if plans for a three-county—San Francisco, Contra Costa and Alameda—system fall through, Alameda should consider going it alone.

Urban Renewal Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Urban Administration has announced a $51,000 grant to the California Department of Finance to help Cudahy, Dunsmuir, Los Altos, Santa Cruz and Yuba City prepare urban renewal plans.

Supervisors Uphold 20-Acre Limitation

Marin County supervisors yesterday upheld a planning commission decision that 205-acre Nicasio Valley Estates should be zoned for 20-acre minimum lots, despite bitter protests of the estates attorney.

"This is a misuse of the zoning law, using it to broaden the subdivision ordinance," complained attorney Robert D. Carrow.

But against this view was a solid front of nearby property owners intent on "preserving the rural atmosphere of Nicasio Valley" and, according to Carrow, over-apprehensive.

"It was never our intent to break down to 7,500-square foot development," said Carrow.

Attorney Raymond H. Shone was present to say that the Nicasio Landowners Assn. was unanimously opposed to ideas of the Sawyer Mountain Corp., represented by Carrow. Several more letters of objection were read into an already long record compiled during a series of battles before supervisors and planners.

Roads figured largely in the dispute. Carrow said the position seemed to be "that we bring roads to county standards or be stuck with the 20-acre limit."

Supervisor William Gnoss said he had long talked to all parties seeking agreement and "I can't see anything but to support the planning commission." The vote was unanimous.

The supervisors also:

1. Appointed Dr. William A. Galeno as deputy county physician, part time, at $500 monthly; Helen Woltz as intermediate stenographic clerk to the farm advisor at $335; Bernice Williams as practical nurse at the county hospital at $280.

2. Voted to lend the civic center model for display at a session of the National Institute of Planners at Santa Rosa, with no cost to Marin County.

3. Agreed to relieve a Public Works Department recruiting problem by granting a two-range boost to junior civil engineers, raising their pay potential from $483-581 to $530-$638.

4. Set for 3 p.m. Jan 9 consideration an amendment to the lease of the county airport north of Novato.

5. Approved in principle establishment of a water pollution research laboratory at the disused Tiburon peninsula Naval Net Depot, despite proximity to a county park.

6. Heard an appeal from Supervisor Gnoss for extension of possible rapid transit planning to the Novato boundary, and decided to act next Tuesday on rejection of current Marin-excluding transit plans though making no effort to withdraw from the rapid transit district.

7. Passed a resolution requesting time extension from the Small Craft Harbors Commission in which to arrange county participation in dredging Saucelito Canal in Richardson Bay.

Paradise Beach Plan Moves Ahead

An "ultimate plan" for development of Paradise Beach County Park, carved out of the formal naval net depot on the Tiburon Peninsula, was approved in principal though without vote by Marin County supervisors yesterday.

Planning Director Mary Summers, who showed the scheme as basis for application for state money from the California State Wildlife Conservation Board, said the proposal is to provide parking near the highway with park and recreation area below and an open area near the base of the fishing pier.

Discussion brought out that $30,000 is expected in state money for reconstruction of the old pier to make it safe. As to the state-proposed boat ramp, strongly opposed by nearby residents and found not feasible by county officials, Mrs. Summers said, "we are merely omitting mention."

Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham adroitly slipped in a proposal to ease a problem created for him by former Supervisor J. Walter Blair, who insisted at budget time on taking $5,000 intended for initial development of the Muir Beach Overlook and instead using it on Paradise Park pier repair.

Proposed Brigham: if state money will pay for the pier, why not restore the $5,000 to the overlook near Stinson Beach? Access ground must be purchased, a road developed, and sufficient done to open the overlook to the public before a report to federal authorities is due next November, Brigham explained.

The board ordered the whole matter set on its agenda for next week when necessary resolutions will be passed.

3 Marinites On U.S. Grand Jury

Three Marinites are members of the new Federal Grand Jury in San Francisco which began sessions today for a four-month term of duty. They are:

Anthony Grady, dairy worker, 11 Harcourt Street, San Rafael; Glenn Bagley, roofer, 15 Azalea Avenue, Fairfax; Edward B. Tardelli, customs official, 14 Gomez Way, Mill Valley.

John B. Stuppin, San Francisco investment broker, was chosen as foreman.

8-Year Student Study Approved

The Novato Unified School Board last night approved an eight-year study of high school students to compare performance of Novato High School graduates in college with those of other schools.

Ralph Giovaniello, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, said a possible expense next year with be $464.

The aim of the study is to start with one freshman class and follow it through four years of high school and then on through college.

Giovaniello said he wanted to contact some university, such as Stanford, to help in setting up the study.

Mill Valley Teen President Named

Greg Cory has been elected president of the Mill Valley Teen Club council for 1962, succeeding Jim Hall.

Other council officers are Carole Bennett, secretary; Anthony Houston, vice president; Lynn Farnsworth, Peter Hindley, Stephen Long, and Charles Locati, members; Steve Novacek, treasurer.

The next senior dance will be held Friday starting at 8:15 p.m. at the Outdoor Art Club with the "Deacons" dance band.

Woman Found Unconscious

A San Rafael woman was found unconscious on the floor of her apartment yesterday after neighbors notified police that the water had been running in her bathtub for more than an hour.

Marion Jeanette Smiley, 38, of 255 Canal Street, was rushed to San Rafael General Hospital when police discovered about 35 nembutal capsules on the floor.

Hospital attendants said she was in satisfactory condition today after treatment for an overdose of the pills.

Tam's Wood Hall To Be Ready Soon

Tamalpais High School's Wood Hall, being remodeled for the past four months, is expected to be ready for occupancy in February.

Six additional classrooms will be available in the portion formerly made up of offices. The offices, now housed temporarily in the industrial arts building, will be relocated in Wood Hall where the old cafeteria was.

The library, now in room 19 of Wood Hall, will be relocated in what was the assembly and study hall area.

No Election On Assembly Seats

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Special elections will not be called to fill two vacant seats in the Assembly, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said yesterday.

Brown told his news conference that successors to assemblymen William A. Munnell (D-Montebello) and W. A. Hicks (D-Sacramento) could not take office before mid-March and would miss most of the 30-day 1962 budget session.

Munnell resigned to accept appointment to a Los Angeles county superior judgeship. Hicks died.

An election is scheduled for Jan. 23 to fill the seat of former Assembly speaker Ralph M. Brown (D-Modesto) who was appointed to the state appeal court.

Board Sees North Marin Highway Plan

A plan for six "cloverleaf" entrances to Highway 101 as a freeway between Novato and the North Marin boundary was shown county supervisors yesterday by Planning Director Mary Summers.

It contrasted markedly with a state plan providing for only two such entry-exit points, and did not seem to be bringing state and county much closer to long-sought agreement whereby the present limited-entrance expressway can be changed to full freeway status.

"I'm pleased that the planning department has made this study and want a chance to review it," was the tactful summary of district engineer R. A. Hayler of the state division of highways.

But as the subject was dropped after discussion, Hayler said:

"We could have drawn a plan like this ourselves but we have to justify it to the highway commission. It's not just a matter of a few dollars. "Every cloverleaf costs a million to a million and a half dollars."

Much satisfaction with the Summers plan was expressed by Supervisor William Gnoss of Novato and adjacent property-owners who want more entrances to the freeway.

Mrs. Summer's map showed one cloverleaf just south of the county's north boundary, another near the Silvera land which has been subject of much highway-entrance controversy, another leading to the county "garbage road", still another just before the airport and a fifth by the airport, and a sixth at Atherton Avenue.

Hayler commented they were "pretty close together" though Mrs. Summers said all would be a mile or more separated. Hayler's view was that one and one-half to two miles was about the minimum.

Corte Madera Sells Bonds For Sewage

Corte Madera Sanitary District directors sold the $124,148 bonds for sewage facilities in the Greenbrae Boardwalk last night to First California Co. of San Francisco.

The First California interest rate of 4.6559 was low of five bids. High was S. C. Pohlman Co. of San Francisco at 4.8486.

The directors accepted the resignation of Director H. T. Mock of 88 Walnut Avenue, Corte Madera. Mock told the board his business takes him out of town and would not permit him to attend the meetings. The directors are scheduled to appoint a replacement at their meeting Feb. 5.

Man Booked For Assault

Dale Sherman Thomas, 22, was booked in the county jail on charges of kidnap and rape Monday on complaint by a 17-year-old Novato girl.

Bail for Thomas, who gave his address as the Starlight Motel on Highway 101 in San Rafael, was set at $3,268.

The victim told sheriff's officers she was pulled into Thomas' motel room about 2 a.m. Monday. She said he struck her and then raped her. The girl was checked at Novato Hospital.

Thomas was arrested when officers walked into the motel room and awoke him. They said the girl admitted being intimate with Thomas about "10 days before Christmas."

Formal Claim Made On Civic Center

Formal claim was filed by civic center contractors Rothschild, Raffin and Weirich yesterday with Marin County supervisors to protect their demand for $13,872.40 damages allegedly due because of the supervisors' stop-work order last January.

Supervisor Peter Behr, himself an attorney, explained that this was only a technicality which allows four years in which to negotiate. But he expressed hope that he and Supervisor William D. Fusselman as a recently appointed committee of two would soon work out "amicable settlement."

Health Director Wins Approval For Extra Funds

Marin County Health Director Carolyn B. Albrecht finally won a hesitant 3-2 approval by county supervisors yesterday of her plan for spending $7,622 in federal money during the rest of the present fiscal year.

What bothered the supervisors was that her scheme was to use this amount in four and one-half months, whereas only the same sum is likely to be forthcoming for the whole of the next fiscal year.

This, members agreed, means hiring some people only until June.

"It's historically true that you can abolish any position but it's not easy to do," said Administrator Alan Bruce. Supervisor George Ludy added: "It isn't easy. You go through a hassel, and we have enough anyhow."

But Dr. Albrecht insisted her scheme included "making clear to those hired that there will be no guarantees for next year."

She submitted a "rough budget" including a full-time homemaker, a half-time nutritionist, a public health nurse coordinator, a junior public health nurse coordinator half-time, a half-time junior public health nurse and a full time intermediate typist; total bill $7,620.81.

Supervisors Walter R. Castro and William Gnoss held out on the short end of the 3-2 vote which finally carried the proposal on assurances by both Dr. Albrecht and Welfare Director Betty L. Presley that cut-down at the end of June could be managed.

$92,955 LOSS

Hickingbotham List Of Stolen Goods Told

A complete list of the goods stolen in the New Year's Eve burglary of the Joseph C. Hickingbotham Jr. residence in San Rafael—topped by a $25,000 sapphire and diamond brooch—was given insurance investigators yesterday by the family.

The loss was set at $92,955.

The socially prominent Hickingbothams of 1408 Mission Avenue were at Lake Tahoe when the burglary occurred. He is chairman of the board of the San Francisco jewelry firm of Shreve and Co. His wife, Diana, is a granddaughter of the late shipping magnate, Captain Robert Dollar.

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said today every lead was being checked out by his inspectors with the cooperation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI entered the case, Chiesa said, on the chance that the jewels and furs may have been taken across state lines, making the case a federal one.

The historic 14-room mansion, built by Mrs. Hickingbotham's grandfather, was entered through a jimmied window in a downstairs washroom. The home was ransacked from top to bottom, according to Police Inspector Nick Giampoli.

Following is a detailed list of the stolen items as given insurance investigators by the family:

JEWELRY:

Thirty carat blue sapphire and diamond clip brooch, $25,000.
Sapphire and diamond platinum bracelet, $10,000.
Pair of platinum and diamond ear clips and screw, $3,000.
Aquamarine and platinum diamong ring, $3,000.
Platinum and diamond heart-shaped clip, $2,000.
Pearl and diamond bracelet, $750.
Gold butterfly pin studded with diamonds, emeralds and rubies, $750.
Gold cigarette case with rubies and diamonds, $600.
Platinum bracelet with six diamonds, $500.
Diamond and pearl earrings, $500.
Link bracelet with gold charms, $500.
Two gold bangle bracelets, $400.
Diamond and pearl bow-knot cluster earrings, $350.
Open wire design bracelet, $300.
Pair of yellow gold cufflinks with small sapphires in centers, $175.
Yellow gold lavaliere, $150.
Watch ring, value unknown.
Platinum and diamond pin, value unknown.

FURS:

Chinchilla jacket, $8,000.
Full-length mink coat, $7,000.
Knee-length chinchilla coat, $7,000.
White ermine jacket, $4,500.
Silver mink jacket, $3,500.
Grey Persian lamb coat, $3,500.
Autumn haze mink stole, $3,500.
Black broadtail coat, $2,500.
Beaver coat, $1,750.
Black broadtail jacket, $1,100.
Black velvet coat with white ermine collar and cuffs, $600.
White fox stole, $500.
Brown cloth jacket with mink collar, $500.
Silk jacket and dress with mink collar, $500.
Ermine muff, $300.
Beaver muff, $150.
Grey fox collar, $80.
Black broadtail cape with black fox trim, $2,500.

In addition to jewelry and furs, the family also reported as stolen two large silver trays, value unknown, and a yellow gold coin purse estimated at $150.

Santa Rosan Hurt In Auto Mishap

A motorist who drowsed at the wheel at 8:21 a.m. yesterday wound up lying on Highway 101's opposite lane and suffering from bruises.

Billie Otis Niles, 22, unemployed warehouseman from Santa Rosa, was traveling north when he went to sleep while passing the county airport north of Novato. His car left the highway and slid down the right shoulder, traveling 291 feet before Niles had bounced sufficiently awake to brake hard.

This threw the car into a broadside which carried it back onto the road and across the divider where it catapulted to land in the southbound lane upside down with Niles alongside.

Niles was given emergency treatment at Novato Hospital.

CPS Announces 10% Rate Hike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 10 per cent increase in its individual family plan was announced today by the California Physicians Service.

CPS said the raise completes the increase "needed to meet the inflationary trend and balance our income with our outgo." CPS is a non-profit organization.

Individual men pay the lowest rate under this plan and are raised from $17.50 to $19.25 a quarter. Three member families will pay $44.30 a quarter instead of $40.18.

Sacramento Council Re-elects Its Mayor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Sacramento City Council last night re-elected James B. McKinney as mayor.

The nine-man body followed tradition by awarding the post to the member who got the most votes in the November election. McKinney, who ran as the incumbent mayor, polled more than 34,000 votes.

Bus Lines Wins Service Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The State Public Utilities Commission authorized American Buslines Inc. yesterday to discontinue service between San Francisco and Pittsburg — but to maintain two round-trips between Pittsburg and Sacramento along the Sacramento River.

The firm had sought to discontinue service along the entire route because it said it was losing $34,671 a year.

However, the commission said this would deprive too many passengers of service between Pittsburg and Sacramento along Highway 24.

Commercial Zone Request Opposed

Seventy-nine signatures have been collected on petitions objecting to the proposed rezoning of about four acres of land at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue in Mill Valley from residential to commercial-recreational.

Principal objection to rezoning of the property owned by Dave and Palmira Biggio, according to G. W. Robertson, is that petitioners do not want zoning which would permit motels, hotels or a bowling alley.

Those circulating petitions are Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Lindell, and Jerome C. Hauke.

Marin Prep Hoopsters All Losers Yesterday

Five Marin County Athletic League high school varsity basketball teams suffered defeat in pre-league games last night with out-of-county teams.

Sir Francis Drake was beaten by Analy of Sebastopol 39-29; Tamalpais was edged by Vallejo, 40-38, Marin Catholic lost to Montgomery of Santa Rosa, 50-39; San Rafael lost to Napa, and Novato bowed to Petaluma.

(The Novato and San Rafael scores were not immediately available at the high schools today.)

Coach Carl Brown said his Drake Pirates were "as cold last night as the Analy gym.

The Sebastopol team which has some big boys out rebounded Drake as well as out shot them. For Drake, Brad Busch was high man with 10; John Wallace was next with 8, and Mark Boero followed with 7 points. The Pirates missed the usual high points of John McBride. Last night he hit once.

Drake played a better first than second half. The mid-way score was 17-16 in favor of Analy.

The Pirate Bs were defeated 46-37. Mike Crabtree of Drake paced the game scorers with 12 points. Drake's Jay Vees were successful in getting some revenge for the other two Marin squads. They crunched Analy 79-33.

Coach Eddie Chavez' Tam Indians came closer than any of the other four MCAL teams in picking up a win yesterday. The Indians had the Vallejo squad shocked as in the early minutes of the game pacers Art Ford and Bill Gillingham led Chavez' fast break offense to push Tam 12-1 ahead of Vallejo. Ford accounted for six of the points and Gillingham for five.

Vallejo closed the gap and led at halftime 17-15 however. Tam's zone defense could not stop Vallejo star Jerry Causey who began in the second half to hit from almost anywhere.

Tam sophomore Ellis Williams was high man for the Indians with nine points. Tam came closer to a tie for overtime in the final seconds of play as Indian center Pete Bardea barely missed a layup shot.

Marin Catholic battled against a big front line. Jerry Smith of the Catholics was high point man with 19. The Marin Bs won their contest with the help of Bob Redding's 18 points. That score was 42-39.

The San Rafael Bs beat Napa, 29-27. John Franzman of the Bulldogs was the point leader with 10.

Big Five Will Expand, Say Experts—WSU Is In Line

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—There now seems to be little question that the Big Five Conference is moving toward expansion—probably taking in three former northwest members of the defunct Pacific Coast Conference—but no time limit has been set for enlarging.

(San Francisco newspapers predicted today that the Big Five will invite Washington State to the conference in the "near future.")

Dr. Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California, yesterday reiterated his stand that eventually the Athletic Association of Western Universities — or Big Five—would have to grow. USC's athletic director, Jess Hill, agreed with him.

A report by Oregon Journal sports editor George Pasero in Portland yesterday said the AAWU may invite Washington State to join, but not Oregon State or Oregon. All were former members of the old PCC along with present Big Five schools USC, UCLA, California, Stanford and Washington.

Pasero quoted Chuck Taylor, assistant athletic director at Stanford, as saying ". . . that's the way it looks. Our president is against it but Washington State seems to be the one they're looking at."

A report from a spokesman of Stanford president J. E. Wallace Sterling said the school favored entrance of all three former PCC members — Oregon, Washington State and Oregon State—into the AAWU.

Topping said "some wounds must heal first" before former members return to the good graces of their ex-associates and all join in a conference once again.

"But it is impossible to say when," Topping added when asked to comment on remarks by other AAWU school's officials.

"I am sure that in time when some wounds have begun to heal, Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State probably will become members of the AAWU."

Pasero's report in the Oregon Journal originated in Los Angeles where representatives of the Big Five and Big Ten are meeting to discuss a renewal of the Rose Bowl pact.

"Of course, we'd like to expand," Hill said after yesterday's Rose Bowl discussion, "but we can't talk about which schools would be invited to join our organization."

"I see where Oregon is planning to build a new stadium," Hill added. "Maybe the Big Five would be interested in them with a larger stadium. I don't know. Some people have recommended Arizona State. But their stadium isn't very large either."

Tom Hamilton, executive director of the Big Five, refused to comment on expansion plans.

In their last meeting several months ago, faculty representatives and athletic directors of the Big Five schools said they had taken their stand on expansion and would move when the university presidents decided the time was right.

It is known that all AAWU schools agree new conference schools should have academic requirements nearly equal with present member institutions.

Sandy Stephens Sweeps AP's Grid Game Awards

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sandy Stephens of Minnesota swept both first place and runner-up spot for outstanding one-game performances in the annual Associated Press year-end football poll today.

The All-America querterback topped the balloting with 21 votes for his brilliant play against Michigan, and received 11 votes for his starring role against Michigan State. Stephens also was cited for his work against Illinois and Iowa.

Performances by Jim Saxton of Texas, Gale Weidner of Colorado and Curtis McClinton of Kansas drew nine votes each for third in the poll. Mel Renfro of Oregon and Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State turned in standout jobs that received seven votes each and Pete Pedro of West Texas State got six for his runaway against Texas Western.

Saints Try To Puncture KC Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Saints try again tonight to break the winning ways of the Kansas City Steers when the two teams meet at the Civic Auditorium.

Kansas City whipped the Saints 107-93 on Monday night to break the San Franmiscan's 10-game victory streak at home. Missing in that one for the Saints were injured forwards Mike Farmer and Kenny Sears.

It's hoped both will be available for duty tonight. Kansas City leads the Western Division of the new American Basketball League with a 24-10 record. The Saints are 16-16.

Ernie Davis Still Getting Awards

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ernie Davis, closing out his brilliant varsity career in a series of postseason games and heading into what promises to be a shining pro career, continues to reap honors as the most celebrated college football performer of 1961.

The Syracuse star's latest distinction was being named back-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press year-end poll Tuesday.

Davis beat out the three other All-America backs in the voting, being chosen by 43 of the 212 sports writers and broadcasters on the panel. Bob Ferguson of Ohio State and Jim Saxton of Texas tied for second in the balloting with 34 votes each, and Minnesota sparkplug Sandy Stephens was next with 29.

Villanova Seeks 12th Win Against Unbeaten Seton

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Villanova's Wildcats go after their 12th straight victory tonight against another unbeaten team. But the opposition isn't likely to provide a major test despite its spotless record.

The Wildcats play Seton Hall 4, at the Villanova Field House. From past performances, Jack Kraft's hustling 'Cats should scuttle Richie Regan's Pirates. While Villanova has been beating some big boys and zooming ing into No. 5 position in the national rankings, Seton Hall has been building its record against lesser lights.

Seton Hall, in the midst of de-emphasis after being hurt by last year's point-fixing scandals, are playing a schedule roughly half major, half minor. So far they have beaten Southern Illinois, Fairleigh Dickinson, Wagner and Rider.

Building around the quick, high-scoring Hubie White and sophomores Wally Jones and George Leftwich, Kraft has put together a spirited club stressing speed and aggressiveness. After winning their first eight, the 'Cats really dashed into the spotlight by clipping Niagara, previously unbeaten Duquesne and Iowa in the Quaker City tournament.

In other games tonight, eight-ranked Duke is at home to Penn State opens defense of its Southwest Conference title against Texas and West Virginia returns to Southern Conference competition, where it is 5-0, after losing three out of its last four to her league rivals. The Mountaineers entertain VMI.

Possible Loss Of LSU Coach Under Fire

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Despite some opposition from the Louisiana State Board of Supervisors, Paul Dietzel is expected to leave the football power he built at LSU for a new challenge as head coach at Army.

Army, which hopes to make an announcement tomorrow, is believed to have offered the former West Point aide a five-year contract at $20,000 a year. There also are the fringe benefits of attractive, free living quarters at the point, and post exchange and commissary privileges, probably worth another $5,000 a year.

Dietzel, 38, one of the nation's most successful young coaches, still has four years to go on his LSU contract at $18,500 a year. Jim Corbett, LSU athletic director, said the coach had not asked for his release, but indications were the request would be made today.

If and when Dietzel requests his release, sparks may fly in the bayou.

"It's time these coaches realize they have moral obligations as well as character building obligations," said board member C. J. Dugas of Donaldsonville, La.

"Most of them regard contracts as just another piece of paper."

Another member, Tom Dutton of New Orleans, said: "Frankly, I don't believe that he will break his contract. I don't believe Paul will be happy in joining the fiddle-footed coaches who walk off the job and have no respect for the sanctity of a contract."

12 MINUTES TAKE 60

Charley Loftus, editor of Yale football programs who undertook a survey, says it's less than 12 minutes.

Stanford Ends Hawaii Tour Victoriously

HONOLULU (AP) — Stanford University's basketball team wound up its Hawaii tour last night taking its fourth straight victory here by turning back Servpac 58-52 before 4,000 fans at Pearl Harbor's Bloch Arena.

The Indians fought back from a 34-24 halftime deficit midway in the second half as 6-8 center Tom Dose broke loose with eight of his nine points before fouling out.

John Windsor was high scorer for Stanford with 13 points, while Jack Stromberg paced the losers with 20.

Looks Like Elgin May Get To Play Pro Ball Weekends

LOS ANGELES —Elgin Baylor, Los Angeles Laker basketball star who reported for Army service at Fort Lewis, Wash., yesterday, may be able to play in 15 of the Lakers' remaining 38 National Basketball Association games.

It all depends on what the board of governors of the league decides this week.

"We're going to discuss the situation," says Laker coach Fred Schaus. "There is a NBA rule that says a player cannot be 'wild carded' if he is in the service, but we're going to try to have that rule amended."

If the owners agree, and the Army permits, Baylor would be available only on week-ends, just as Green Bay Packer stars Boyd Dowler and Ray Nitschke were cut loose for Sunday service in the National Football League.

"It's all a question of whether the owners want to face the possibility of losing some games or having a better gate," said Schaus.

Kentucky Is Minus Grid Mentor

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky began looking for a football coach today after the university's athletic board fired Blanton Collier, the softspoken coach who replaced Paul (Bear) Bryant.

The board voted yesterday to buy the remaining three years of Collier's contract, saying its decision was by "mutual agreement" with Collier. His salary was reported at $17,500 annually.

The board only five weeks ago gave Collier a vote of confidence.

Collier, 55, who came to Kentucky in 1954 and compiled a 41-36-3 record, said he had no immediate plans for the future.

Bryant, who came to Kentucky in 1946, pulled the Wildcats out of the football doldrums and led them to three major bowls—the Orange, Sugar and Cotton—in successive years. He left in 1953 to take the head coaching job at Texas A&M and now is at Alabama.

The Wildcats were 5-5 last season.

U.S. Bowl Gives Hickey Chance To Watch Drafts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Practice began today for the U.S. Bowl with Pro Coaches Bill McPeak of Washington and Red Hickey of San Francisco getting a good chance to size up several of their top draft choices.

The All Star football game Sunday in the new Washington Stadium matches for the most part East Division National Football League draft picks against players chosen by the West Division.

Hickey, on his West squad, gets a chance to work with two 49er draft picks, fullback Jim Vollenweider of Miami and halfback Dick Easterly of Syracuse.

Joe DeMaestri Tells Why He Decided To Call it Quits With The Yankees

CONNOLLY

I've been doing a lot of thinking (no cracks) and searching my soul for a good reason why a young and sturdy athlete 33 years of age, earning upwards of $33,000 a season in baseball, should quit.

Today Joe DeMaestri, New York Yankee infielder, supplied all the answers. And they were sound reasons as you will discover.

In his somewhat dingy office at 628 Lindaro Street, San Rafael, the new boss of the DeMaestri Distributing Company pulled no punches as he unfolded his story.

"It was the biggest decision of my life," Joe explains.

"I didn't quit the Yankees. I quit baseball."

Joe explains that he could, if he wanted to, name a dozen or more reasons for wanting to hang up his glove. But he wouldn't be telling the truth.

"It was because I felt I was neglecting my family and my children by not being with them all the time," says Joe. "That influenced me more than any other factor.

"I HAVE THREE children, Christine 10, Joe Jr., 8, and Donna, 3, and seeing them and my wife only half the time isn't my idea of real living. As the children grew in years I felt they didn't come to me with their problems like I felt they should. And I blamed it onto the fact they weren't really close to me as they should be. And I reckoned that the longer I stay in baseball, the harder it was going to be for me to quit. And the longer I was absent from my home and children, the farther the children were going to be from me."

"My dad, starting from scratch, built up a nice business here and now I can step in and relieve him so that he can get away—a deserved rest," DeMaestri says.

"I realize, and even my closest friends remind me, that quitting a $30,000 a year job, calls for a sanity test. But I'm not expecting to earn a baseball salary in business. All I want," explains the former Yankee infielder, "is to make a living and grow up with my children and family. I've had 11 years of loneliness and not being able to help my wife make decisions that usually are made by the head of the family.

"Maybe after 11 years in business I might be able to pick up in the salary bracket of business where I left off in baseball. At least that is my aim."

Fit as a fiddle, trim, and in the very prime of life, Joe DeMaestri, now that he is out of baseball, has only one regret.

"I'll miss the gang and my baseball associations," he admits. "Those fellows like my roomie, Tony Kubek, are not easily replaced. Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Yogi Berra, Elston Howard, Whitey Ford, John Blanchard and all the others on the club, are not merely run-of-the-mill guys. They're real fellows.

"But as I say, I feel my family means more to me than money or fame."

Another observation DeMaestri made, and I think it's a very honorable one, was that he was beginning to feel like baseball was a hard chore.

"I was commencing to feel I lacked enthusiasm, the urge to want to play oftener, and it worried me. When a player gets to the stage he isn't fighting tooth and nail all the time, he loses something pretty precious to himself, his teammates and the management."

SPEAKING about the Yankee management, DeMaestri professed they were "tops."

"There were no problems with the Yank owners," Joe explains. "They always lean backwards to help the players. Manager Ralph Houk is a combination of everything—gentleman, athlete, boss and friend. If you couldn't get along with him, you'd kick if you were sent to heaven. He knows how to handle men and they all dish out 100 per cent effort."

On the morale of the Yankee club, Joe went on to say that in his opinion, "It ought to be mandatory for a ball player to spend a year with the Yankees. That is how much good they do for anybody who joins up with them."

Joe has his own reasons for saying it but he firmly believes that, had Hickey Mantle batted in fourth place in the lineup, he would have belted 60 or more home runs.

"Roger Maris had an edge," DeMaestri explains. "The pitchers usually walked Mickey to pitch to Maris and in that way he got more chances to swing at the ball than Mantle.

"Every pitcher in the American League would rather pitch to Maris than Mantle," Joe explains.

One of the real miracle men of the Yankees, according to DeMaestri, is John Blanchard, utility catcher.

"Blanchard was a great influence on the Yankee club," says Joe. "Playing irregularly suited him fine, and I think made him of more value than if he played regularly. Blanchard likes the on-and-off assignment. I believe he is a better player in that role than if he played regularly. He seems to rise to every occasion when played alternately. In his first 60 times at bat last season, he hit 20 home runs."

YOU'LL BE hearing from Joe from time to time the coming season. He has promised to come along with me when the Yanks play the Giants next summer.

"I'll love being in the pressbox and needling my old pals," says Joe as he picked up the phone for an order of apple cider.

Wilma Ward Gets Sullivan Award For '61

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Wilma Rudolph Ward, winner of three Olympic gold medals and Associated Press woman athlete of the year for 1960 and 1961, has won the James E. Sullivan award for 1961.

"This is the greatest honor in the world for her," said Ed Temple, her coach at Tennessee State. "This is the topper—the one I've been waiting to hear about for a long time."

Mrs. Ward herself was en route home from Linden, N.J., where she and her husband, classmate and track team member William Ward, spent the holidays with his parents. The newlyweds hope to compete together in track events.

Mrs. Ward, 23, is the third woman to receive the Sullivan Award in the 32-year history of the recognition by the Amateur Athletic Union. The Tennessee State senior collected 1,627 points, the fourth highest total ever in the poll of former Sullivan winners, amateur sportsmen, sports writers and sportscasters.

She was runnerup to Rafer Johnson last year. This year Tommy Kono, world champion weight-lifter from Honolulu was second followed by world broad jump record holder Ralph Boston, also of Tennessee State.

Tomorrow Mrs. Ward will be in Milwaukee to receive The Associated Press award.

The Sullivan Award is presented annually by the AAU "to the amateur athlete who, by performance, example and good influence did the most to advance good sportsmanship throughout the year."

Old Rose Bowl Contract May Be Used Again

PASADENA (AP) — The Big Ten and Big Five conferences apparently are in agreement over a contract for an annual Rose Bowl football game.

Representatives of the two athletic organizations discussed at length yesterday the possibility of reinstating the old contract they operated under for 13 years before its expiration after the 1960 Rose Bowl game.

There probably will be one major difference, however. The Big Ten intends to adhere to its no-repeat rule, but the Big Five—with fewer teams—probably will not. Under the no-repeat clause Minnesota would not be eligible for the 1963 Rose Bowl game, were it to win the Big Ten title again next fall. Its last two appearances were on a special invitation basis.

Lathrop Leishman, chairman of the Tournament of Roses Football Committee, said he expected no complication in signing of a new pact because "our relations with the Big Ten have been so admirable. These things always take time."

Donkey Ball At Redwood

There will be donkey basketball tomorrow night in the Redwood High School gymnasium.

The Redwood High Letterman's Club will tangle with the Redwood faculty in the fun game, slated to start at 7:30 p.m.

Admission to the contest will be $1 for adults, 50 cents for high school students and children. The Redwood Benchwarmers are sponsoring the game.

Marin Harriers Complete Season With A Big Win

The Marin Athletic Club members can look back upon the most successful season in their history.

The Marin runners put the frosting on the cake over the New Year's weekend by again capturing the national junior 25,000 meter championship at Palo Alto. It was the second straight year that Marin had captured the coveted title.

Mike Lehner of the University of Oregon was the individual winner in the race, covering the distance in an hour 22 minutes and eight-tenths of second. He beat the favorite, Marin's Darryl Beardall, by two-tenths of a second in the final sprint.

Other finishers for the Marin A.C. were Stuart Sparling, John Weidinger, John Phillips and Phil Dancel.

The runners for the winning team were awarded individual national junior championship medals. Team coach Jim Imperiale of the Marin harriers was presented with still another trophy to add to the club's growing collection of shiny hardware.

Fresno's Coach Is FCA Award Finalist

CHICAGO (AP) — Cecil Coleman of Fresno State was named yesterday as a finalist for the American Football Coaches Association award as Small Football Coach of the Year.

Coleman, representing District VIII, was one of eight finalists selected on a vote of 834 coaches. This is one finalist from each district.

The award will be made later this month at the National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting in Chicago.

Orange County State Dumps Calvin, 102-83

NORWALK (AP) — Orange County State College won the Valley Christian Invitational Basketball Tournament last night, defeating Calvin College of Grand Rapids, Mich., 102-83.

Calvin led at halftime 46-45 but the greater height of the Californians paid off in the second half.

Celebrity Match Precedes Friday's Los Angeles Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A pro-celebrity event today serves as a prelude for the 36th annual $50,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament which begins Friday over Rancho municipal course.

Bob Hope, Lawrence Welk, Gene Autry and others of the entertainment industry join up with such pros as Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper Jr., Gary Player and Doug Sanders.

The Los Angeles Open has drawn 24 of the top 25 leading money winners of 1961, the only absentee being Sam Snead.

21 Council Seats At Stake In City Elections In Marin

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Twenty-one city council positions in nine of Marin's 10 cities will be at stake in municipal elections next April 10.

Every city except San Rafael — Marin's only charter city—will elect two or three council members. In three of them—Corte Madera, Fairfax and San Anselmo—three positions will be at stake, representing a majority of the five-member council in each case.

Five of the 21 incumbents whose terms expire have said they definitely will not seek re-election. Two others have indicated they probably won't run. Only two are definitely committed to make the race for new terms, with three others in the "probably will run" category. The rest have not indicated their intentions.

In Novato, both incumbents whose terms expire have said they will not run again. In Sausalito, one of the two whose offices will be up for election is definitely out of the running, and the other likely will not make the race.

In two cities—Mill Valley and San Anselmo—non-incumbent aspirants already have announced intentions to be candidates.

Each of the nine cities, all of which operate under California general law provisions, has a five-member council, with the members choosing one of their number as mayor each year. Terms of five now serving as mayors expire in April.

Belvedere—Terms of Councilmen H. Nordmark Williams and Ida M. Scott expire. Williams has said, "I don't think I will run." Mrs. Scott is uncommitted. Both are completing their first four-year terms.

Corte Madera — Mayor Albert E. Kogler and Councilmen Edward W. Colthurst and Henry L. (Bud) Cole are those whose terms expire. Colthurst is committed to seek another term. Kogler has said he probably will run. Cole has not announced his intention. Colthurst is completing his first four-year term. Kogler has served nearly four years by appointment. Cole was appointed last February to fill out the term of William R. Hansen, who resigned.

Fairfax — Terms of Mayor Kenneth M. Edgar and Councilmen Rolfe M. Ockenden and Clyde McKinney are expiring. None has committed himself regarding another term. Edgar is completing his second four-year term, having been re-elected in a "photo finish" with Larry Walsh four years ago in which the absentee ballots decided the issue. Ockenden is completing his first term. McKinney is serving by appointment.

Larkspur — Terms of Mayor Arthur E. Storhaug and Neil R. Brixon end in April. Storhaug, winding up his first four-year term, has said he will run again. Brixon, appointed to the council after the resignation of H. H. (Steve) Wheeler, has not said whether he will seek a full term.

Mill Valley — Terms end in April for Mayor Robert D. Huber and Councilman Joseph H. Sheeks. Huber is completing eight years on the council; Sheeks, four. Huber has said he definitely will not run again. Sheeks is undecided.

An aspirant candidate has appeared already in Mill Valley in A. A. Hemmerling of 5 Beverly Terrace, contractor and chairman of the city's planning commission.

Novato — Mayor Wayne Womack and Councilman Charles R. Johnson, who drew the short terms on the council when Novato became a city in January, 1960, have both said they will not seek re-election. Womack, who has been Novato's only mayor, is reported considering the race for county supervisor against incumbent William Gnoss of the Fifth District. Johnson plans to retire from politics.

Ross — Terms of Councilmen Frederick S. Allen and John R. Witter will expire. Both are expected to seek new terms, although neither is definitely committed as yet. Witter is completing his first four-year term. Allen was appointed to the council in October, 1960, following the resignation of John McNab.

San Anselmo — Expiring terms are those of Mayor Carleton G. E. Little, William Franchini and Robert E. Rouse. Little has said several times he will not seek a second term. Franchini, elected along with Little four years ago, is uncommitted, as is Rouse, who lost election by two votes two years ago and was appointed a few months later after the resignation of Mrs. Carmel Booth.

San Anselmo already has an announced candidate in the field, however—Mrs. Bernece Cresap, housewife and writer of 99 Butterfield Road. Mrs. Cresap announced last May she would run "against Mayor Little," leaving the possibility she may not make the race if he carries out his intention to retire at the end of his term.

Sausalito — Veteran Councilman George E. Keeney and Mrs. Marjorie B. Brady are those who terms expire. Mrs. Brady, winding up her first four-year term, has said she will not seek another. Keeney, who has served 16 years on the council, said he is undecided.

Wall Street Has Best Year Since 1929

NEW YORK (AP) — The "Golden Sixties" became a shining reality for Wall Street in 1961 as stock prices rose on volume of more than a billion shares — greatest turnover since 1929.

The promised harvest of the sixties—disappointingly delayed by the stock market retreat of 1960—was an abundant one indeed.

Prices soared to an extent that was alarming to some authorities and their warnings had effect in causing a temporary interruption of the advance. Disconcerting news on the foreign and domestic fronts at times also prompted temporary "corrections" but the upward march continued.

BIG VOLUME

As the year ended, prices were not much below their highs and showed signs of resuming the upbeat once more.

The tremendous volume was the big stock market story of 1961.

The New York Stock Exchange reported volume of 1,021,264,589 shares—the biggest since the crash year of 1929 when 1,124,800,410 shares changed hands. The total compared with the 766,693,818 shares traded in 1960.

The greatest single-day total was 7.08 million shares on April 4. This was the largest since the Eisenhower "heart attack" session of Sept. 26, 1955, when 7.72 million shares changed hands.

The huge trading volume brought a bonanza of commissions to brokerage houses and great joy to Wall Street.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which closed 1960 at 615.89, rose to an historic peak of 734.91 on Dec. 13, closing the year at 731.14.

AVERAGE UP

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced from the 1960 close of 220.90 to a record high of 269.00 on Nov. 20 and ended the year at 262.70.

The gain from the end of 1960 to the 1961 highs was roughly 20 per cent for these averages.

The most active stock on the big board was Studebaker-Packard, rising 3⅜ to 10⅜ on 11,352,800 shares.

American Telephone, which has the biggest family of stockholders, continued its fine performance of 1960 and advanced 29 points to 136⅛.

General Motors, which has the most stock outstanding but not the greatest number of shareholders, reaped an impressive percentage gain of 16⅜ points to close the year at 57.

Ford Motor put on a star performance, rising 49 points to 113⅛ and Certain-Teed advanced 40¼ points to 60⅞.

S.P. Given Word

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The State Public Utilities Commission came out for the long-legged man yesterday. It ordered the Southern Pacific to rearrange seats on 29 lightweight chair cars to allow 39 inches between the center line of each seat.

Auden Poetic Drama Set For Hub Church

Dancers Barbara Demaree and Robert Cowell will partray Mary and Joseph in the W. H. Auden poetic drama, "For the Time Being," to be presented by the Festival Theater in First Presbyterian Church, 72 Kensington Road, San Anselmo, at 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday.

A large cast will appear in the seldom-produced drama directed by Wayne R. Rood with music by composer Wilbur Franklin Russell and choreography by Jeannde Taylor Herst.

In the presentation using techniques of the Chinese and Japanese theater, the wisemen appear as twentieth century businessmen, scientists and statesmen.

The theme of the drama in celebration of Epiphany will be the Christmas event and its meeting in every day life.

Featured in the cast and chorus will be Festival Theater regular staffers joined by a number of actors from other Bay Area companies. These will include Kenneth McClellan, who played the role of the archbishop in "Murder in the Cathedral," and Russell Ernst, actor and producer from Berkeley.

There will be no admission charge but an offering will be received at the time of the performances.

Winnemucca Pastor Gets Full-Time Job

Rev. LaVern A. Inzer, whose complaints started a crackdown on Winnemucca, Nev., bawdy houses and cost him his job, now is on a fulltime salary.

Inzer stayed in Marin several days last month for a conference at the Golden Gate Theological Seminary in Strawberry. His complaint to authorities resulted in loss of his part-time job as bookkeeper at a Winnemucca lumber yard. Students at the seminary gave the pastor a used station wagon and pile of groceries to help his fight.

The pay for Inzer has been allotted by the California Convention of Baptist Churches, according to Dr. Edmund Walker of Fresno.

The announcement was the highlight of a New Year's party at the church in Winnemucca.

Five women are awaiting trial on prostitution charges as a result of Inzer's complaint.

Inzer had worked at various jobs including one at the post office during the Christmas rush.

He said he intends to devote part of his new full-time church job to developing Baptist missions in his county.

Tools Reported Stolen In Novato

Two more cases of tools being taken from picup trucks have been reported to Novato police.

Robert Grant of 1422 Dawes Street, reported tools were taken from his truck parked at his home between Dec. 22 and last Saturday. William Greving of 1341 Denlyn Street reported tools were taken from a truck belonging to the Novato Unified School District while it was parked at his home over the weekend.

Baked Duck With Rice Dish Are Cooked At The Same Time

In late fall Arkansas celebrates its famous duck festival which draws sportsmen the world over. Since the festival just follows the October rice harvest, Arkansas homemakers have developed recipes combining wild duck with rice.

This rice casserole to serve with baked duck was developed by Mrs. John H. Simpson from Almyra, Ark., the owner of a 540-acre rice farm. She finds it ideal for large groups as she can make it ahead and keep it warm for as long as two hours without affecting the quality

She usually serves it with the wild duck her husband provides, but where that is unavailable domestic duck is also good. She bakes the rice casserole and duck at the same time, as oven temperatures are the same.

The rice is baked with mushroom soup and duck broth if it is available. Otherwise, consomme can be used. Sauteed fresh mushrooms are added before serving for extra flavor.

BAKED DUCK-CASSEROLE

2 (3½ to 4 pounds) ducks
Salt and pepper
Soft butter
2 tblsp. corn syrup

Have meat man quarter ducks. Wipe with a damp cloth and clean very well—do not wash. Season inside and out with salt and pepper. Rub soft butter generously over birds. Place on a rack in roasting pan and roast at 350 degrees F. for 1 to 1½ hours, depending on desired doneness.

Increase oven temperature to 400 degrees F. Brush the ducks with corn syrup. Roast 15 to 20 minutes longer. Serve with rice casserole. Makes 4 servings.

RICE CASSEROLE

1 cup uncooked rice
2 cups duck broth (made by adding water to drippings) or 2 cups bouillon
1 can (10½ oz.) mushroom soup
1 tsp. salt
1 cup chopped fresh mushrooms
2 tblsp. butter or margarine
Salt to taste

Combine rice, broth, mushroom soup and salt in a 2-quart buttered casserole. Cover and bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 hour.

Saute chopped mushrooms in butter for 5 minutes. Season with salt. Toss lightly into rice casserole, being careful not to mash rice grains.

Chicken Salad Plus Good Evening Dish

CHICKEN SALAD PLUS

4 cups cubed cooked chicken
1½ cups finely diced celery
½ cup (or more) mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Salt and white pepper to taste

Mix all the ingredients; cover and refrigerate for several hours (or longer) before serving so flavors combine. Serve on salad greens and garnish as desired. Makes 6 servings.

SUBTLY-SEASONED California beef round steak, served with rice, a salad and coffee, makes these "Chili Steak Strips" a satisfying entree the whole family will like.

'Chili Steak Strips' Virtually Entire Meal

The entree is virtually the entire meal when it's "Chili Steak Strips." And what a flavor-fest is in store for the family when you serve this main dish with its south-of-the-border tang. Tender California beef round steak is sliced into small strips, sauteed and then simmered with such spicy seasonings as chili powder, mustard, instant minced onion, garlic powder and cinnamon. Served over hot rice, the meat takes on new flavor dimensions and the meal becomes an occasion for fanciers of fine food.

CHILI STEAK STRIPS

1½ lbs. beef round steak (cut ¼-inch thick)
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon instant minced onion or, ¼ cup chopped raw onion
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon chili powder
Dash cayenne pepper
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder or, 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon celery seed
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 cup water
Hot buttered rice

Cut steak into strips approximately ½ x 2 inches. Saute in butter. Combine all remaining ingredients except rice; add to meat. Cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes until steak is fork tender. Serve hot over buttered rice.

Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Lemon Rind Gives A Subtle Flavor

A hint of lemon rind in this cookie dough adds subtle flavor.

Shrimp Creole Steamed Rice
Green Peas Salad Bowl
Fruit Cup Ribbon Cookies

RIBBON COOKIES

½ cup butter
1 cup confectioners sugar
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1¼ cups sifted flour

Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg yolk and lemon rind. Pack dough into device for pressing out cookies, using ribbon shape. Press individual-length cookies onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven until lightly browned at edges—6 to 10 minutes, depending on thickness. Cool on wire racks. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 5 dozen 2-inch medium thick ribbon cookies.

'HEALTH ENDANGERED'

Food Authority Urges Diet Be Improved By Teen-Agers

Stressing that 50 per cent of U.S. teen-agers are improperly fed, a good authority has called upon America's youth to succeed "where all those interested in nutrition have failed."

Speaking in Chicago where state 4-H winners are attending the 40th National 4-H Club Congress, Miss Ellen-Ann Dunham, vice president of General Foods Corp., extended the challenge at a dinner for winners of the national 4-H foods-nutrition awards program.

"Every generation takes on some of the problems of the preceding one," said Miss Dunham, "but . . . you are likely to inherit the incomprehensible problem of people living in a land of plentiful foods but suffering from poor nutrition," she told the audience of 200 4-H members and national and movement.

"Two-thirds of the people living outside the United States suffer from chronic malnutrition because the proper foods are unobtainable to them," she said. But, "half the teen-agers of the United States suffer from poor diets because they do not make proper use of obtainable foods.

"Four out of every 10 teen-age boys . . . six out of every 10 teen-age girls suffer from poor diets," she claimed. "They eat two-thirds or less of the nutrients recommended by the National Research Council . . . endangering their own physical and mental health and that of their future children," said Miss Dunham.

Targeting her remarks at the 51 teen-age winners of the 4-H foods-nutrition awards program in all 50 states and Puerto Rico, Miss Durham cautioned that "unless something is done about the majority of girls your age, you will be living and bringing up youngsters in a community of improperly fed men, women and children.

"Multiply your own community of the future by similar communities in every state and section of the country and you are faced with a nation," she warned, "that cannot reap fully the harvest of freedom and —a satisfying life in the world community.

"We create film strips and printed material for home economics classrooms," she explained . . . "have distributed millions of booklets on good menu planning . . . written cookbooks, recipe leaflets. We work closely with magazine and newspaper food editors . . . send out hundreds of radio and TV scripts each year. But, she pointed out, "with all this effort, those same disturbing figures I quoted tell us that somewhere, we and all other people interested in nutrition, have failed. Six out of 10 teen-age girls are not eating properly

"How do we reach these girls?' Miss Dunham asked the group. "Advise us," she urged, "tell us the medium, the story angle, the language in which to appeal to your age group.

"This is a national problem," she explained, "and one which must be solved. With your help I feel it can be solved. The ideas will be your contributions. Ours will be the task of disseminating them for the general good of teen-agers everywhere," she concluded.

Convenience Foods Found In Old Egypt

The marvelous array of convenience foods you read so much about today are not all products of recent development.

One of the very earliest convenience foods was candy. It originated in ancient Egypt about 500 years before the birth of Christ.

Naturally, the candy of 1961 is quite different from those early day sweetmeats. Today's candy consists of varied, highly nutritious ingredients. And candy making has become an exact science.

Candy bars rank as an ideal convenience food in industry. According to makers of the familiar Clark bar, many workers are being encouraged to take a candy break in mid-afternoon.

Reason for this is that candy is known to be a quick energy restorer and contributes to alertness. It is a handy, between meal pickup food. And best of all, perhaps, there is no preparation with commercial candy. You just unwrap it and begin nibbling.

Broccoli Stalks

Use a swivel-blade vegetable parer to remove the thin outer covering from broccoli stalks. If the stalks are overly long, cut a few inches from their ends and cook along with the rest of the vegetable.

Using Watercress

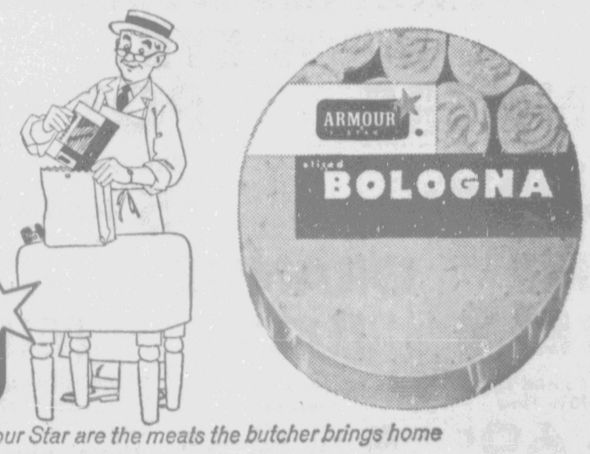

Watercress has a pungent flavor when it is cooked for a long time in soups. If you like a mild flavor, add the leaves from cress about five minutes before the soup is to be served.

Pack your man off with a lunch that will hold him until dinner time...

Armour Star Luncheon Meats load a sandwich with working energy

Armour Star Bologna is a thoughtfully seasoned blend of fresh beef and pork. But, far more important, it contributes genuine working energy to a man's noonday sandwich. Working energy for a working man. And for you and the kids, too. Working energy. That's the mighty ingredient in all 12 Armour Star Luncheon Meats. Cooked Salami, Liver Cheese, Spiced Luncheon Meat—you name it. Use them freely beginning tomorrow. In nice slices. In neat packages. Exceptional.

ARMOUR

The meats that wear the Armour Star are the meats the butcher brings home

One of the first parties of 1962 will be the tea given tomorrow by Mrs. Laurence Chandler Beringer at her home in Mill Valley honoring Mrs. E. M. Shelton of Belvedere.

Assisting will be Mesdames Gordon Otis Jacobs, Kent O. Seymour, Rodney Hartman, William Hamilton, Carl Priest and Delmar Clinton.

Mrs. Shelton will be leaving soon for an extended tour of the Orient, after which she plans to visit her daughter Anne in Germany.

Mrs. Berkow Will Be Speaker For B'nai B'rith Meet

Mrs. Ben Berkow will be the guest speaker at the noon meeting tomorrow of B'nai B'rith Women, Marin County Chapter, in the Jewish Community Center, San Rafael.

Mrs. Berkow is the wife of Captain Ben Berkow, stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

She spent one month last fall in Israel giving her a chance to compare life of an Israeli woman as opposed to her American counterpart.

Betrothal, Nuptial Anniversary Celebrated At Costas' Home

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

An engagement announcement and a wedding anniversary celebration highlighted the holidays for Adolph and Marie Costa. They entertained at a family party and dinner on Christmas Day when the engagement of their son, John Taleri Costa, and Ragnhild Johnsen was announced. On New Year's Day the Costas celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary and honored John's fiancee at a party attended by relatives and friends.

Ragnhild is the only daughter of Helvig and Olaf Johnsen of Oslo, Norway. They had hoped to be with their daughter at Christmas but because of Mrs. Johnsen's illness, plans plans had to be cancelled.

Ragnhild speaks several languages having visited every European country before coming to the United States. She is doing secretarial work at Matson Navigation Company in San Francisco. She also served in the same capacity at the embassy in Oslo.

John is attending Golden Gate Business College in San Francisco specializing in real estate and insurance. He is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and College of Marin. He is the brother of Mrs. David Francis Zec (Marylou Costa) of Kent Woodlands and the late Lt. Richard Cagwin Costa, U.S.N. and grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gerge W. Cagwin of Larkspur and the late Mr. and Mrs. Lodovico P. Costa of San Francisco.

Adolph and Marie have lived in the same house in San Anselmo where she went as a bride 40 years ago. They were married in St. Ignatius Parish, San Francisco, Jan. 1, 1922 and honeymooned in Southern California.

Among Marie's relatives at the New Year's Day party were her sister, Mrs. John Lee Beach (Bernice Cagwin) of Balboa Island and her brother, Horace Cagwin of Mill Valley. Mrs. Beach will be moving from the south to make her home permanently in Carmel early in the spring. She has purchased a home and guest cottage on a three-and-a-half acre estate in Carmel Valley.

With Horace Cagwin and his wife were their son, George, and three daughters, Louisa, Barbara and Cynthia Louisa, who has been four years in Vienna, Austria, studying languages and music at the University of Vienna returned two days before Christmas to spend the holidays with her family.

Adolph's anniversary present to Marie was a 1962 Buick Special, cream and powder blue with matching upholstery.

Susan Spalding Engagement To Donald Bull Announced

A June wedding is being planned by Susan Jane Spalding and Donald Bull, whose engagement has just been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Polhemus Spalding of Ross.

The nuptials are planned for June 16 at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Susan is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and the College of Marin and she also studied at the Sorbonne in Paris. The twin sister of Mary Elizabeth Spalding, she is the granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Baker Spalding and the late Mr. and Mrs. George Rodiek.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Bull, Donald is the brother of Alpheus Bull Jr. and the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Elster and the late Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Bull. He is the nephew of Mrs. Edward Bullard of Mill Valley and of Mrs. J. E. Cook of Ross.

He is a graduate of Lowell High School and the University of California, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

NEW RESIDENTS of Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Weiss, formerly of The Highlands, San Mateo, attended the New Year's Eve party at the club. Mr. and Mrs. Weiss have two sons, Danny, 10, and Joey, 8.

Other new residents at Peacock Gap are the Dan Colemans formerly of San Francisco. He is an engineer with Coleman Associates.

Lawrence McNear was host at a holiday luncheon at Peacock Gap. The club is on former McNear property. Also at the luncheon were Mrs. McNear, her sister, Dora Farley, and Mesdames Miller McNear and Clara McNear Leppo. At a nearby table were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lund of San Rafael and their house guest Miss Mary Burnhoffer of San Luis Obispo.

Toothy Tots

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tooth extraction is declining where children are concerned.

American pedodontists, specialists in children's dentistry, report that dentists do not extract children's teeth unless it is absolutely imperative. Generally, the dentist prefers to fill a small cavity in a child's baby tooth.

League To Hear Talk By Mayor

San Rafael Mayor John F. McGinnis will present his view of Bay Area problems to members of the League of Women Voters of Mill Valley at a luncheon meeting to be held Wednesday, at Tiburon Tommie's. The meeting will start at 10 a.m. and continue until 2 p.m.

Throughout December units of the Mill Valley League discussed Bay Area problems. They particularly focused attention on the geography of the Bay Area, considering what problems it has which cannot be solved by local government and examining special districts as a solution to problems not within the jurisdiction of local government.

Club Plans Slide Tour

A program, "A Trip to the Orient" and tea will be given Friday by the Tamalpais Centre Women's Club, when Mr. and Mrs. James Goodale will show their colored slides of a trip to the Orient. The slide program will feature views of Bankok, Thailand.

Mrs. Russell Wollcott, tea chairman, will be assisted by Mesdames Thomas Cusick and Marius Righetti, who will pour tea following the 1 p.m. program.

Lynn Jo Mernin Becomes Bride In Asheville Rite

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Mernin of San Francisco have announced the marriage on Dec. 27 of their daughter Lynn Jo Mernin to Alfred Nathaniel Salley in Asheville, N.C.

The bride, who is a Dominican College graduate, had as her maid of honor, Barbara Albertazzi, also a Dominican graduate.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moss Salley of Asheville, was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base during his service and is now attending the University of North Carolina, where the couple will live.

Lifelong Personality Patterns Established In First Months

"You say the first months of life may set the pattern," writes a bride, "for all the years to come. Dr. Barbour, I don't see how. I expect to have several babies. I want to be a good mother. I will teach them many things after they can talk and can understand me. But babies don't learn that way. They only eat and sleep! How does a mother set patterns for them?"

Lifelong personality patterns usually are established during the first few months of life. Of course tiny babies can't learn through words. They are too young. But they do learn emotionally. They draw far-reaching conclusions from the way their mamas treat them. At first babies are afraid of life. They sense their helplessness. They are frightened by birth. They are "insecure."

The lucky babies who have good mothers discover they're safe. They find that nothing can happen to them, because their mamas protect them. They'll be fed when they're hungry, comforted when they are frightened, loved cuddled, adored. Soon they conclude that the world is a fine, friendly place after all. Their fears recede. They become "secure."

Unlucky babies don't do so well. Maybe their mothers don't enjoy caring for them, and show it. Maybe they cry by the hour. Maybe they're abused. Such babies learn that the world is not safe. Their early fears are not overcome. They continue their insecurity.

Bad subsequent experiences may undo the best of good starts. Good experiences later may overcome the harm of bad starts. Babies' personalities need not be fixed forever, during the early months. But for most babies the learning will last. Most people's outlooks are not changed radically after infancy.

When you are pregnant be sure to talk with your doctor about this.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Can a new baby learn enough to be spoiled badly?"

L. R.

(A) No, tiny babies can't be spoiled badly. Mothers can indulge them safely. Discipline is very important for later, but not at first.

Twist! Italians Look To American Colors

"When Americans come to Italy they expect to see lots of color, but actually it is Americans who bring gay colors to us," said Simonetta of Italy on a recent visit to the U.S.A. Simonetta was in this country to introduce her first line of casual shoes.

"Italian women wear black most of the time and couture collections often look somber to Americans. It is only in our sportswear and clothes for the beach that we let ourselves go all out for color," she said. "For this type of clothing, I believe that the flat and low-heeled shoe is best, and when it is worked in gay colors, it looks simply wonderful."

Simonetta is married to a top-flight designer — Alberto Fabiana—and she laughingly answers all queries about their rumored rivalry in the fashion field. She is quick to remind interviewers that she enjoys designing all sorts of "fun" accessories as well as couture clothes.

From the new square-toed last she created in this first collection of causual shoes to the little barrel heel on "Dolce," her footwear is stamped with a couture look. The shoes can be worn with feminine play-clothes and look equally well with softer type street dresses.

Textured cotton is worked in two colors for some of the six models in the collection. Other designs illustrate Simonetta's knowing use of solid colors with stripes and prints. Each style is available in five different colors. Four are flats and two have shaped low heels.

Color combinations include orange with gray as in "Danza," a red-and-white "wicker" in "Gaio" and yellow-and-black "wicker" print for the wedge-heeled "Latino."

Ferris-Burke Nuptials Here

The Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia was the setting for the marriage of Margaret T. Burke and Marshall J. Ferris on Friday. The Rev. Edward J. Dincberg officiated.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Burke of Austin, Minn., was given in marriage by her father, and she wore for the ceremony a street-length dress of white brocade with matching jacket.

Mrs. Laurel Powers was matron of honor, attired in a green and red slipper satin sleeveless dress.

After the nuptials a reception was given at the San Rafael home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Z. P. Melcon.

She is a graduate of Austin, Minn., High School. Her husband, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ferris of Austin, was also graduated from Austin High School. He is stationed at the Marine Barracks, Naval Ammunition Depot, Concord.

Food Processors Wary About Capitalizing On Shelter Fad

NEW YORK (AP) — Mounting public interest in fallout shelters poses a problem for the nation's food processors and packagers.

Should they take advantage of this interest by promotional campaigns extolling the merits of their products as foods for survival?

Or would this do them more harm than good in an era of uncertainty over whether Americans ever will be forced to live and eat underground?

As businessmen, they are interested in selling more processed food. But, almost to a man, they say they do not want to be accused of frightening people into filling their cellars with canned goods.

A survey of industry leaders showed these trends:

1. No one has yet come up with a truly new food designed for the shelter age, except for a small handful of composition-type foods providing all the necessary vitamins, calories, minerals, proteins, etc., in one neat package. Several firms have their research and lab people working on such products, but are reluctant to discuss them for competitive reasons.

SHELF LIFE

2. They feel that the long shelf life and ease of preparation of existing canned meats, poultry, fish, vegetables, fruits, spaghetti, soups, juices and the like make them naturals for shelter stocking.

3. Although the reasons why remain unclear, can production has risen this year. A Can Manufacturers Institute spokesman reported output through September was 5 per cent ahead of a year earlier, which compared with a normal increase in production, due to population growth, of 3½ per cent. He also reported a big pickup in demand for canned water.

This trade spokesman and a representative of the National Canners Association reported what they called "an unverified feeling" in industry circles that many consumers are picking up a few more cans here and there and stowing them away for a day when fallout may rain down.

John A. McGlinn, vice president - marketing of Campbell Soup Co., commented that many of a "truly substantial increase" in inquiries come from people who want to fill their shelters with long familiar foods.

KNOWN FOODS

"Our speculation is that in the environment of a fallout shelter, the individual apparently would prefer security of foods which he knows and likes," he said.

But, like other companies, his could give no estimate of how much of its sales could be traced to anxiety over the possibility of a nuclear war. A meat processer has reported a pickup in canned goods sales recently, but added: "We do not know if it is related to fallout or if it is just the normal seasonable increase."

Survey replies stressed that the food firms do no advertising tieing their products in with shelter life and plan no such campaigns.

Prominent among the one-package composition foods is a product called Multi-Purpose Food, which has been sold to companies preparing shelter kits and is in the shelters of many large firms and all of the Federal Reserve banks in the country.

NUTTY FLAVOR

A bland compound with a slightly nutty flavor, it is 90 per cent toasted soybean and can be eaten straight or mixed with water, milk, fruit juices, apple sauce, soup, jams or what have you. Two ounces costing about three cents would be equal in nutritional value to ½ pound of beef, a dish of peas, a small potato and a glass of milk, the company says. A 4½ pound tin will last one person for two weeks.

A similar product is National Biscuit Co.'s survival ration crackers, which were developed at the request of the New York State Civil Defense Commission and offered to large firms, institutions and civil defense agencies with a minimum order of five tons. Recently, however, the firm said it would accept mail orders for a minimum of six 5¾-pound tins, enough to sustain two adults for two weeks if they have two quarts of water each day.

Other companies are putting together shelter packages made up of products they currently market, and some have been doing fair business with canned water.

Winter's Rough, Prevent Dryness With Creams

Indoors or out, winter can be a rough season for your skin.

To prevent dryness and chapping, it's a good idea to practice moderation in make-up application. Go easy on rouge and powder and cleanse your face oftener than usual with rich, oily creams to restore needed moisture. Work it in gently, avoiding rough rubbing motions.

Always work with the muscle structure of your face, not against it.

Pat cream on, usuing circular movements, and be especially careful around the eyes to avoid stretching the skin.

Brighten Kid's Room With Homemade Decor

Most children like nothing better than some room decorations of their own. And with just a little help from you, they can have them in a colorful and inexpensive way.

Here's one suggestion — a snowman wall decal, made from adhesive covering material.

You'll probably be able to find a snowman illustration in a magazine this time of year. Clip it out and trace it on onionskin or another thin paper. Then retrace it onto a heavier pattern. Apply this pattern to the backing sheet of covering material, cut out, remove the backing sheet and smooth onto the wall.

If you're artistically inclined, of course, you can draw your own snowman on the covering material without using a pattern.

What Do Doctors Do When They Suffer HEADACHE PAIN?

New York, N.Y.— Most doctors live under constant nervous tension, pressure and mental strain. It's not surprising they, too, often suffer from miserable headaches. But now – it can be revealed what doctors, themselves, take to relieve headache pain.

A survey shows many doctors take the fast, pain-relieving ingredients in Anacin®. In fact, three out of four doctors recommend this same type of relief to their patients.

Anacin Tablets are stronger yet safer. They give fast, long-lasting and – more complete relief from tense, nervous headaches than aspirin or aspirin with buffering. You see, mere aspirin or buffered aspirin contains only one pain reliever. But Anacin is different. Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of medically proven ingredients recognized for their effectiveness by the highest medical authorities. Anacin gives extra medication that not only relieves pain fast, but also its nervous tension, pressure and depression.

After taking Anacin – pain goes in minutes! The sufferer 'feels great' again.

Despite their strength and effectiveness – Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. Anacin may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting or irritating the stomach.

See if the extra medication in Anacin doesn't work better for you. Change to Anacin for fast, long-lasting, more complete pain-relief.

FAMILY FARE

Keeping Accurate Records Of Members' Health Best

This is the week for New Year's Resolutions and we have a suggestion. Resolve to begin keeping a family health record.

How many times have you needed basic health facts about members of your family—for school records, for insurance forms, for a doctor's medical history?

A family health record is your compilation of these facts. Like vital statistics in the family Bible, notations on family health can be of permanent value.

The record should contain facts on immunizations, illnesses, injuries and physical examinations. The record will prove its worth only if kept carefully. Enter accurately all injuries and illnesses. When you next see your physician, take the family health record along so notations can be made while they are fresh in your mind.

A school notebook will do for a record book. Or you can obtain a small account book or ledger from a stationery shop.

Begin with a brief listing of the family history. Date and place of birth of each member. If any are deceased, date and cause of death. Pertinent medical facts about each family member, such as chronic diseases or illnesses.

Next should come a section for dates of immunizations, with spaces for each member of the family. The columns should allow room for listing immunizations against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, typhoid, polio and smallpox. There should be space for noting dates of booster shots.

A section on general information should include such data as the blood type of each family member, whether the RH blood factor is known to be present and special allergies or drug sensitivity of each.

A check list of the more common diseases — chicken pox, measles, German measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diptheria—should be included. Most of these are childhood diseases, but sometimes an adult is exposed.

Another section should provide a place for noting dates of physical examination, with a line or two to make note of special advice or instructions that followed the checkup. Illness requiring hospitalization should be recorded, listing nature of the illness or injury, name of physician, name of hospital, dates of entry and discharge, length of illness, if surgery was performed, describe it briefly. Illnesses at home should be recorded also.

Finally, a section listing the family's health and accident insurance information will be helpful.

History Of Jewelry Reveals Feathers Once Gals Favorite

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — Today, they say, diamonds are a girl's best friend. But once it was feathers or shells, says an expert on the history of jewelry.

Even now, the most prized jewel among some peoples is not a many-carat chunk of white ice. In some parts of the Philippine Islands, for instance, the teeth of puppies are considered a precious gem, said Charles Derby.

Derby is a gemologist — an expert on the history of stones as well as in judging their value. He is with the firm of Harry Winston, Inc., and I first heard about him when he narrated a display of ancient and modern jewels at the Brooklyn, N.Y., Museum.

In an interview later, Derby talked at fascinating length about the history of gems — how feathers, for instance, were jewels to some tribes of American Indians. Some tribes also pierced sea shells which first served as a primitive dowry and then became "money" for bartering.

Silver coins were hammered into necklaces during the era of Cortez, the Spanish explorer. Ancient Polynesians of the south seas polished porpoise teeth into jewels for their queens.

Ivory, amber, turquoise, and coral were precious to the ancient Phoenicians. And amber was the most precious gem to some oriental peoples at least 500 years B.C., said Derby.

Derby said that quartz fired to resemble turquoise — it was called faience—was made into necklaces by the ancient Egyptians. The Greeks before the Christian era mentioned diamonds as "adamas" (hence, the word adamant to indicate firmness). And Derby is among the gemologists who believe that Moses used a diamond to scratch the ten commandments on the stone tablets.

Jewelry, he said, is as much a part of ancient and modern civilization as crusades and wars. Scratch the history of any civilization and you'll find the love of—and often greed for—precious stones.

"The Russians caused trouble then as they do now," said Derby. "Once, when one of the czar's representatives was killed in ancient Persia, the Persian offer of appeasement was an 87-carat diamond.

"Catherine the Great some 300 years ago had one of the most fabulous jewel collections on record. Her blue sapphire, the third largest in the world, is now in the Winston collection."

Today, he said, the diamond has become the most universally accepted jewel of opulence.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Rosen (Sue Lewis) were married Saturday at the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley. They are on a wedding trip to Nevada.

1962 Political Picture Is Taking Shape In California

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The new year signals open season in California politics. More candidates will be announcing shortly; campaigns will be getting under way. In June, voters will choose nominees for all statewide offices, 100 legislators, 38 congressmen and U. S. senators. Then, in November, the showdown. What the campaign involves is analyzed in a three-part preview series beginning today.)

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California is embarking on a political year bristling with ingredients unmatched in a history of turbulent elections.

There have been bruising contests before:

Gov. Hiram Johnson's fight against the entrenched interests in the early 1900s . . . the savage 1934 campaign that kept author Upton Sinclair out of the governor's chair . . . the Democratic comeback victory by Gov. Culbert L. Olson in 1938.

But let's take a look at what's ahead in '62:

Foremost, perhaps, Richard Nixon's now-or-never bid to rekindle his political career after coming so close to the presidency in 1960.

The first election for state cross-filing by the Democratic legislature in 1959; you'll vote only for candidates of your own party in the June 5 primary.

The first solid test of whether the right-wing movement is all talk and no votes—or something to reckon with.

An all-out effort by Republicans to recapture state jobs they lost in 1958—governor, lieutenant governor, controller, treasurer and the entire State Board of Equalization.

A concentrated fight by Republicans to regain the majorities they held so long in the legislature—swept out in the disastrous intra-party squabbling of 1958.

And the first election of 38 congressmen—a gain of eight by reason of California's leaping growth since 1950.

The entire campaign is magnified by one overriding fact:

The governor who is sworn in on Jan. 7, 1963 for four years will soon be the chief executive of the nation's largest state. Experts figure we'll overtake New York as No. 1 in population by August of '63.

It will mean more national prestige, more political power, more delegates to the big party concentions, more say-so on who'll be the next presidential nominees and, undoubtedly, more patronage.

It also will mean more headaches for the governor and the legislature in providing enough money and services for the new millions—but, then, that's another story.

Here's what to look for in the approaching clamor for votes:

Democrats—will hammer on Brown's record, try to persuade both Democrats and Republicans that what Nixon is really after is the presidency.

Republicans — will seek to build up an image of "Pat" Brown as amiable—but bumbling, indecisive, a big spender; but they may be busy holding down strife within their own party.

Nixon, a veteran of the political wars at 48, has pledged the most vigorous campaign in California history, and no one doubts he means it. But before he can get to Brown, he'll have to dispose of three GOP rivals for governor.

The Republican sleeper — and a factor in a political dilemma facing Nixon — may be Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles, at the outset the least known of the Republican candidates.

Illness has slowed former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's quest to get his old job back, and former Lt. Gov. Harold J. Powers has lagged badly in the early polls.

Shell, 43, a tall, energetic ex-football player, already has traveled thousands of miles throughout the state in his own plane. A wealthy oilman, he appears to be well-financed. And his voting record and campaign utterances are attracting the support of conservative elements.

Nixon has his work cut out for him: he must win his party nomination impressively and then siphon off some 750,000 Democratic votes from Brown in November. Democrats lead in registration by close to one and one-half million.

The former vice president can't stray too far to the right and win Democratic friends; or veer too far to the left and expect the loyalty of all Republican factions.

The strength of the right-wing groups shapes up as the most provocative question mark of the election.

Brown, of course, has his problems, too. Many former allies soured on him during the 1960 Democratic national convention when he was saddled with a split state delegation. Others still bring up the Chessman case.

Still, Brown probably will win the endorsement of the California Democratic Council at its Fresno convention Jan. 26-28, and the odds are that he'll go into the primary without a serious opponent for the Democratic nomination.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

By HARRY CRAFT

Biggest Industrial Achievements Turn Out To Be Smallest Of All

Some of the biggest industrial achievements in 1961 were measurable not by their physical size—but in the lack of it.

The art of making things smaller has always been a step forward in manufacturing — witness the transition of bulky radios to pocket-size transistors, tiny hearing aids, component parts of missiles and computers, and I imagine even compact automobiles might fit in here.

A miniaturization competition sponsored annually by the Miniature Precision Bearings Co. attracted 117 "small-fry" entries in 1961. Among them were a two-phase electric motor 1/64-inch square, an AC timing motor 9/32-inches long and weighing only 1/9 ounce, a surgical needle of .008-inch wire for operations on tiny blood vessels, and computer "memory" units that reduce from 10,000 watts to only one watt the power needed to run a computer containing a million circuits.

An award won by Bulova Watch Co. was its "Accutron" electronic timepiece which packs in a watch-size unit all this: An inch-long tuning fork, a pinhead-size gear wheel with 300 identical teeth, coils of wire so small one strand can barely be seen, transistorized circuitry and a 1.3-volt mercury power cell.

MOVING PAINS. During 1961 an estimated 10 million families — nearly one in five — changed their addresses.

Most nationwide moving firms reported high gains in business—United Van Lines claims 15 per cent. While more people are on the go, some of the increase comes from a rapidly growing phase of the business that involves transporting sensitive electronic equipment, business machines and delicate missile components that can't logically be trusted to other types of carriers.

Special shock-proof vans are now being built to handle these items. Bekins Van and Storage has placed orders for more "high-cube" vans to hold large assemblies, equipped with new suspension systems cushioning against road bumps and vibration.

NEW REGULATION by the State Division of Real Estate requires that the "owner, subdivider or agent of subdivided lands being offered for sale in this state shall deliver a copy of the real estate commissioner's Subdivision Public Report to the advertising medium" prior to or concurrently with the placement of advertising.

Required by law for any contract for sale in California, the public report is based upon a careful inspection and analysis by the division and is designed to assist purchasers in evaluating the land being offered from an investment standpoint. Out of state parcels have often been bought sight unseen by investors—sometimes advertised in rosier terms than the facts warranted.

The display and classified advertising departments of the Independent-Journal under the new regulation will now be able to judge the character of such advertising offered by comparing copy with the public report—if the twain don't meet the ads will be ruled out.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Midnight To Dawn Finds Marin A Fascinating Place

The world of night is fascinating. When the bleary eyed addicts of the Late, Late Show turn off their sets the drama is well under way.

A couple of cats are courting in the neighbor's yard. Growling, scowling and keening in the noisy manner of cat romance down through the centuries.

In the distance a lonely dog is howling in late lament at the rare partying of his beloved masters. Never mind, old fellow, they'll be back soon!

A little hoot owl calls his soft, deep-voiced challenge to the world. Sometimes there is an answering call. Often only the deep velvet voice of a far-away fog-horn answers.

Most of Marin's creatures travel on silent feet with silent voices. Take Mr. Raccoon, for example. He is a very quiet type. The bank of the garbage can lid and the rattlety-bang of the cans give him away as he scrounges around ing for left over goodies.

Rats, of which our county has a plentiful number, steal darkly among our houses. But cats and skunks play a deadly game of pursuit and capture, and rats and mice are the victims.

Deer walk the hills and vales searching for food, hard to come by in the winter season. Rabbits prick their ears and wiggle their noses before the dawn's early light. Occasionally a rabbit meets an untimely death under the wheels of some night-driven car and leaves a spot of blood and a bit of fur as a short lived memorial.

The night world of Marin is full of thousands of padded, clawed, hoofed, but very quiet feet. Our gardens, so austere and empty during daylight hours, become regular boulevards of tiny feet at night. A veritable jungle world of hunter and hunted.

The birds are usually quiet during the dark hours, unless, of course, they should lose one of their number to a cat, a skunk, a coon or an owl, in which case the noise is considerable, but brief.

Trucks and semi-trailers and a few buses rumble down 101 toward the City. Their drivers yawn at the wheel.

Perhaps a plane flies over in a distant roar. In our sleep we hear and wonder —is it from Japan? from the Philippines? from Bangkok? from Athens and Babylon?

An occasional light glimmers through the trees where an insomniac putters about the house, or a literary fiend is burning the early morning oil on his or her favorite author.

It is a soft-footed, feather-touch world — this night between midnight and dawn.

It is a different world from that of the day people and the day animals, such as the squirrels and the birds. It is rather mysterious and exciting.

Marin's Frost Time

January is Marin's coldest month. The temperature drops a few degrees below freezing and the hills and dales are often clothed in a chaste white garment of frost.

Annually the more tender plants are nipped. In really cold winters the frost does considerable damage to citrus and other semi-tropical plants in the Bay Area.

While frost is not pleasant to those gardeners whose favorite plants are damaged by its cruel white teeth, yet it is, next to the birds, probably Nature's most effective insect and garden pest killer.

It seems safe to say a heavy frost does our gardens more good than harm, if we look at it from the long range point of view.

Memorable Year Forecast For Frightening Little Ol' Earth

NEW YORK (AP)—What kind of year will 1962 be?

A look in the murky crystal ball discloses it will be one of the more memorable years of modern times, a mixture of national prosperity and international puzzlement.

According to our annual fuzzy forecast, the American common man will earn more money than he ever did before in his life—and still be unable to understand where it all went.

He will eat both the cake of plenty and the bread of crisis, as the Russians find new strings of discord and unrest to thrum.

Most people will be living more, but maybe wondering whether they are enjoying it less. Yet everybody — everybody except wives reaching 40—will find something to be cheerful about during 1962.

Here are a few fanciful predictions that may come true during the present year:

On the international front:

Following President John F. Kennedy's advice on personal physical fitness programs, Premier Nikita Khrushchev will take a special correspondence course in muscle-building.

The United States will shoot a man into orbit, and the Russians will immediately orbit a beautiful female spy to keep an eye on him.

The Congolese will organize their own version of the "Peace Corps," and send their first trainees over here to help rescue Americans stranded in traffic jams.

The United Nations will seek to solve its financial woes by having itself listed on the stock exchanges of New York, London, Paris, Rome, Bonn, and Tokyo. Shares will also be sold secretly to the Russian public by stock and bond salesmen parachuted into Siberia by the Allies.

On the domestic political front:

John F. Kennedy Jr., will grow some more baby teeth.

HIS FATHER will ask Congress to put some more adult teeth in the present income tax laws, and everyone on an expense account will go into mourning.

A Harvard professor will decline a federal government appointment, claiming he prefers to teach. After being cleared of any taint of subversion by a joint faculty-congressional committee, Sen. Barry Goldwater will offer him a post on his staff.

GOV. NELSON A. Rockefeller's friends will offer a $25,000 reward for any ghost writer who can come up with a Republican vote-getting slogan better than "New Deal," "Fair Deal," or "New Frontier."

All in all, 1962 promises to be an interesting and surprising year. If you don't enjoy it, it'll be your own fault.

Independent-Journal:

California drivers will be happy to learn that Governor Brown has prepared some simple instructions for survival in case they are driving at the time of a nuclear explosion.

In his message which accompanies the automobile registration, he recommends lying on the floor with windows rolled down to avoid flying glass, keeping your eyes closed and head covered for several seconds after the initial explosion. Then, if you have an auto radio, tune immediately to Conelrad for official instructions. He also says: "Such knowledge is as basic to your safety as good brakes on your car."

If such is the case, we have more to fear from other drivers than from a nuclear explosion.

This also eliminates the need for fall-out shelters. Obviously, the best place to be is on the road, driving around with the windows open and the radio tuned in. And if the attack comes on a sunny Sunday, when most of the population is tooling along the road anyway—well, we have nothing to fear.

But don't forget to check the brakes!

Will Stand Behind Novato Trustees

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I am wondering why we bothered to elect a board of trustees?

Evidently I am wrong in my thinking. I thought we delegated to these hard-working, conscientious persons, the power to make decisions which after sincere deliberation, they feel is the best for all concerned.

Some of their decisions may not please me, but maybe I am too busy, or too lazy to acquaint myself with all the facts involved. It's my school board. I helped elect them to this thankless job and I intend to stand behind them.

Surely I am not a "lone voice crying in the wilderness."

Customers Still Greeted By Name

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

After reading last nights editorial (Dec. 28), it was most apparent that our good editor doesn't trade at the "Ross Cash Grocery"—and I use the word cash loosely!

I have yet to be there, when each and every customer that passes through the door isn't greeted by name. I've traded there about 14 years and still consider myself one of the new customers.

Eddie, Robert and Grover are our hosts—and I am sure that the people of Ross know and appreciate their contribution to the community. They are volunteer firemen and heaven knows what all; but most of all, they are the cheerful, eager to please men of the Ross Grocery. The only thing that is lacking is a pot bellied stove; but the atmosphere is the same. And there just isn't space enough with the stock that is necessary to compete today. . . .

So, I guess there is still some of the old feeling you wrote about, and many of us who are anxious to keep it. There must be other stores like those in our village, that make their customers feel important and take time to pass the time of day.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

A report from representatives of Marin County's chambers of commerce to the Marin County Associated Chambers of Commerce asked removal of Marin's Golden Gate Bridge directors "as soon as possible."

Thirty-nine tons of steel to be used for construction of the new Reed School at Tiburon arrived from the makers in San Francisco.

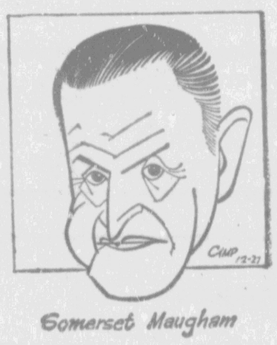

20 YEARS AGO

Voting $126 for additional civil defense office expense on top of $1,797 already appropriated, several county supervisors cautioned Coordinator J. C. Bordanaro to keep down costs.

Somerset Maugham explained in one short sentence why writers, actors, and producers are never completely pleased when one of their contemporaries registers a smash hit. "We authors," Mr. Maugham told a reporter, "like to see a friend get ahead, but, my dear fellow, not out of sight!"

An actress applied for a role that called for a charming, seductive young matron. "You're too old for a part like this," scoffed the manager. "I am nothing of the kind," snapped the actress, "and I'll prove it to you. I was 17 when I married and my husband was 35. Now he's 70 and that's just twice what he was then. That makes me 34."

P.S. She did NOT get the job.

No question but what his new contact lenses have improved his contacts, maintains Myron Cohen. Now he bumps into everybody he meets.

GO-IT-ALONE POLICY

Nasser's Cairo Radio Raps Egypt's Former Arab Allies

By PHIL NEWSOM

PRESIDENT GAMAL Abdel Nasser is not exactly starting again from scratch. He still has Egypt and he still has Cairo radio.

And as of this week, with Cairo radio as his chief weapon, he was at verbal warfare with most of the nations of the Middle East, with Britain and France thrown in for good measure.

In the space of a month this past year, Nasser enjoyed the sweetness of victory and the bitterness of defeat. On Sept. 1 he met with leaders of uncommitted nations at Belgrade to act as the chief spokesman for Arab nations.

On Sept. 28, a military revolt in Syria split the United Arab Republic and reduced Nasser to the status of leader of a secondary nation spread out along the Nile.

But neither then nor now could this smiling, 43-year-old determined man with the football build be written off.

HE HAS WRITTEN down his objectives. He has shown a cat-like ability to recover from reverses. He has a demonstrated control of the Arab street mobs and of passionate Arab invective.

Against him the West has tried threats, gifts, boycotts and bombs. He has not hesitated to cross swords with Khrushchev while accepting Soviet aid.

He rode to power as a simple man who, as a benevolent dictator would relieve Egypt's poverty and give its people dignity.

Yet his ambitions went far beyond. He sees these expanding ambitions in "circles," first the Arab world of the Middle East; second, the whole of Africa, and third, the Moslem world and its millions.

He has written:

"The annals of history are full of heroes who carved for themselves great and heroic roles, and played them on momentous occasions. It seems to me that in the Arab world there is a role wandering in search of a hero."

At the moment, Nasser is the unhorsed hero of that role.

NEVER A MAN to avoid a two-front verbal war, he now is engaged in a war of many fronts.

Last week, he broke up his federation with Yemen and linked it with Saudi Arabia as a "reactionary" government.

On King Saud of Arabia and King Hussein of Jordan he also pinned the labels of "imperialist agents." He called Yemen, Saudi Arabia and Jordan representatives of a "fifth column" inside the Arab world.

He accused all three of teaming up with imperialism because "they find in our socialism a threat to their existence."

The Syrian coup, he says, was an example of "imperialist reactionary collusion."

He has accused France of operating a spy ring against him and of conspiring openly with Israel against Egypt.

Britain, Turkey and Iran, he says, also oppose him.

All these are manifestations of Nasser's new go-it-alone policy in his "popular struggle toward self-sufficiency and justice."

For the moment, Nasser depends heavily upon the United States for financial assistance, and so far it has escaped his invective.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

New Year May Bring About Some Exchanges Between Fusselman, Behr

Let's hope that I-J management will resolve for this New Year to play fair with its hired help.

Not that we have any complaints, but let's have no grounds for any.

In my own case if suddenly deprived at this juncture of the pleasures of covering Marin County supervisors I would be tempted to kick, scream, pout and generally cut up.

For after a year of tension and frustrations it seems that our supervisors greet 1962 in a spirit of fun and games, at least intermittently. So let me watch. In between meetings I pledge to sweep out the shop with my accustomed efficiency.

Let nobody think me daft enough to believe that the millenium has come. But there's a new spirit on the board, for complex reasons.

Maybe the Bothers of 1961 left everybody ready to live right. Surely, not all the credit may be claimed by new Supervisor Peter Behr. Indeed, he may finally turn out to be an added factor of snortings, cavortings and confusion.

I'D LIKE TO MAKE my hobby for 1962 the chore of just sitting and taking notes and watching Behr and Bill Fusselman side by side. Each is sharp in different ways. Neither is long on patience. But so far everything is dandy.

After the board's initial cheer over arrival of Behr I wonder if they haven't found him a little brasher than was indicated by his program of humility, cooperation, peace on earth and (unless I got carried away) high regard for American motherhood. He can also fire up quick, for a legal cool cat.

Fusselman is warm by nature. Lately he has notably relaxed, which is fine for him and for others. I think he's sincerely welcomed the arrival of another good mind, and the promise of work-together and no more cliqueism.

This I say despite the fact that Behr is aligned in some vital issues on the other side from Fusselman. But I see no reason to believe that anybody on the "new board" will be permanently minority or majority.

This should be good for all and especially for Fusselman, a man of infinite interest and of whom I am personally fond.

BUT HE'S LIKE an olive. Most people have to acquire a taste for him and some never do. Others consider him kind, witty and generous. He has a sharpy eye and sometimes a sharp tongue but he honestly doesn't mean to hurt.

If Fusselman waxes choleric he seeks to correct, sometimes to rebuke, what he deems error. Sometimes he stages a show for private reasons of his own. I'm never quite sure of anything but his complete integrity.

Like Nelson putting the telescope to his blind eye, Fusselman is capable of failing to see what he doesn't wish to see. But he's never self-righteous, whereas Behr worries me a little; for all his whimsy and occasional guffaws he may be a do-gooder at heart.

That's a nasty thing to say about anybody and I shall be happy to retract if reason arises. But there have been several Behr-faced remarks about improving enterprises he purposes to undertake for his constituents.

Everybody in politics is supposed to think about his constituents. But often I wonder just who they are, also just what they want or deserve.

I'm one of Behr's constituents and there are a lot of things about me he doesn't know. He's all the better for that, no doubt.

Behr doesn't even know for sure just why people voted for him, or didn't. That went double for his predecessor J. Walter Blair. Blair's election was at least partly due to opposition to Vera Schultz, and his recall may have been due equally to his demerits or Behr's merits.

Other supervisors have easier jobs in figuring their constituents. George Ludy mainly has to keep his ranchers as happy as possible about that national seashore, which they don't favor. (Behr does, incidentally.) Bill Gnoss is well off to be for Novato and the county airport. Walter Castro knows and serves San Rafael area well, and Fusselman hasn't been around all this time just because of his big blue eyes.

Behr is supposed to serve everybody in South Marin but I don't think it can be done. Nor, most likely, should it.

Levering Says He Won't Run

SANTA MONICA (UPI)—Harold K. Levering, 67-year-old conservative Republican, has announced he would not seek re-election to the 60th Assembly District seat he has held since 1948.

Levering, who has served as majority floor leader and vice chairman of the joint committee on water problems, is the author of the state loyalty oath.

"I feel it is time for the district to provide a replacement to carry on the fight for sane and rational constitutional government," Levering said.

He pointed out that with service in both world wars and with the expiration of his present term, he will have "spent one third of my life in public service."

Levering, of Bel Air, helped write a bill to prevent abuses in the automobile sales field.

Phone Exec Talks On Light Beam

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The first public demonstration of a person talking on a light beam was given here today by Walter Sparling, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Sparling disclosed that a "gaseous optical maser" designed by Bell laboratories has opened the way for development of a practical television-telephone.

The simple-appearing device uses infra-red beams to transmit telephone messages and television impulses with wires.

Sparling said masers open the way for creation of a billion talking circuits and 10 million television channels.

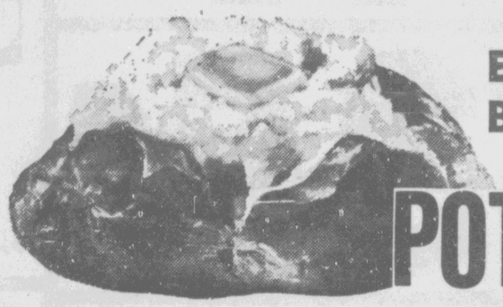

The new communications system would have its first practical use sending messages to and from space satelites, Sparling said.

Sparling said he didn't know when the maser's possibilities would be serving the general public.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 3, the third day of the year with 362 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The evening star is Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1777, George Washington defeated three British regiments at the Battle of Princeton, N. J.

In 1938, the "March of Dimes" campaign to fight infantile paralysis was organized, as an outgrowth of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Warm Springs foundation.

In 1947, the 80th Congress first to be controlled by Republicans since 1933, was convened.

In 1959, Alaska became the 49th state to join the Union, when President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed the document of proclamation.

A thought for the day: American short story writer William Sydney Porter, better known as O. Henry, said: "A straw vote only shows which way the hot air blows."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

Set Up Communications Before Opponents Ready

If you made it a habit to telephone your friends at 6 a.m. you'd discover that they had very little to say. By the time they worked up a full head of steam, you'd be off the phone and talking to somebody else. The idea is to set up communications before the other fellow is ready for you.

Opening lead — ♡ 4

West leads the four of hearts, and you win in dummy with the queen. You return a trump from dummy, East plays low, and you win with the king.

If you're a normal kind-hearted fellow, you lead a heart to dummy in order to return another trump.

East steps up with the ace of trumps to lead a diamond to West's ace. And West returns a heart for East to ruff. You eventually lose a club trick, and the opponents cheerfully score 100 points.

All because you hadn't learned the telephone trick.

BEWARE RUFF: Did you notice that ten of hearts fall from the East hand on the first trick? Even if you didn't, the danger of a heart ruff should occur to you.

How will East get the lead to his partner for the heart ruff? Clearly, by way of diamond. Your defense against this is to lead the diamond before East is ready to ruff. You set up communications before the opponents have anything useful to say or do.

If you lead a diamond at the third trick, East will win and return a club. You try the finesse, losing to the king. And that takes out West's last entry, and there is still a heart in the East hand.

The opponents will get their diamond, and their club and the ace of trumps, but East will not get his ruff.

DAILY QUESTION: Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ 4
♥ 9 7 6 4 2
♦ A 9 5
♣ K 10 5 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid four hearts. This jump to game shows about five trumps, a singleton or void suit, and about 10 or 11 points counting distribution as well as high cards.

Alert Readers Of I-J Return Dog To Owner

Thanks to an Independent-Journal reader, Connie is back with her family.

Connie is Champion Constance of Marin, a black and tan long-haired dachshund owned by Mrs. Isabella Cheda of 224 Bayview Street, San Rafael.

The dog ran away from home Dec. 28. Mrs. Cheda appealed to Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, who in turn solicited the aid of the Independent-Journal. An I-J story on the dog's disappearance appeared the next day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Nairn of 16 Los Robles Drive, San Rafael, found a dachshund hiding in their garage. Having seen the story, they figured—and rightly—it was Connie. They restored her to her thankful owner last Friday.

Currency Thief Gets Three Years

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Leroy O. Tallon, 27, a highway post office driver, has been sentenced to three years in prison for stealing $5,000 in currency and checks from registered mail.

Tallon, of Hayward, was arrested in Oakland last Dec. 6 as he finished his run servicing small towns in the San Joaquin Valley.

Postal inspectors said Tallon had taken during a three-month period seven registered letters from postmasters addressed to the Federal Reserve Bank here.

CONGRESS TO CONVENE

Big Off-Broadway Show Ready To Start Next Week

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Congress convenes January 10. This round-up of the principal issues which Congress must handle provides a review.)

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — The nation's finest off-Broadway production reopens on Capitol Hill Wednesday for an extended engagement expected to last far into the summer.

This drama of debate and decision, featuring a cast of hundreds and a supporting army of technicians and publicists, traditionally unfolds in committee rooms, lobbies, and two main arenas, the House and the Senate, but the entire city is quickly drawn into the action whenever the big show returns.

In the offing is a sparkling clash between two great themes that have dominated local drama recently. One is called "moving ahead." The other is called "holding the line." Not only does the audience watch eagerly to see which, if either, will prevail, but so do the players, for they write the script themselves as the story proceeds.

Another individual anxious to take a hand in script-writing, when circumstances allow, is President John F. Kennedy who, by custom and circumstance, has already designated the dramatic vehicles for the 1962 confrontation: U. S. trade and tax policy, foreign relations, medical care for old people, unemployment problems, rejuvenation of the cities, education, transportation, to name the main ones.

What Congress will do with these, and how its national audience will judge its performance in November, is the great question.

Trade and foreign policy appear to have top billing.

Kennedy will ask Congress to scrap basic trade legislation which has been on the books since 1934 and give him a freer hand to deal with world trade patterns. The president is presenting a new trade program as essential to national economic security. In the circumstances, it will be hard for Congress to refuse him, although the inevitable protectionist pressures on individual members will undoubtedly lead to some check on presidential authority, perhaps in the form of a latent Congressional veto.

The United States' role in the United Nations also will be a subject of major debate, focusing on the president's request for authority to buy up to 100 million dollars in bonds to keep the U. N. solvent.

Kennedy also hopes to turn the issue of medical care for Social Security recipients into the top domestic confrontation of 1962. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff, still licking wounds from last year's aid-to-education defeat, hopes to do better this time.

Congress likely will enact some kind of tax incentive for plant investment, in line with a 1961 presidential request, but prospects are dim for any broad tax overhaul, as suggested by the president last year. One problem is that defense demands have precluded any possibility of a tax cut—a necessary "sweetener" for successful reform in a subject as contentious as taxation.

Several programs are on the agenda to deal with unemployment. A manpower retraining program, a youth training program including a conservation corps, a program to ease worker dislocation brought on by a dropping of trade barriers, a standby public works program and a permanent increase in unemployment benefits are all waiting in the wings.

With a multi-billion dollar housing bill already enacted, the 87th Congress will be asked to give further attention to city problems this year by sanctioning a new department of urban affairs and housing. The president may introduce this one as a reorganization plan, since these do not need clearance from the House Rules Committee and do not provoke filibusters.

Congress also is likely to be faced with demands for a vastly expanded program of federal mass transportation assistance to help relieve urban congestion.

In his budget and State of the Union messages, the president is expected to call on Congress to push defense spending over the 50-billion-dollar mark in fiscal 1962, provide large new sums for foreign aid, inaugurate a 700-million-dollar program for public fallout shelters, raise postal rates to help cover the 850 million dollars annual deficit, and complete action on several resource and conservation measures.

The president also is scheduled to send a special message early in the year on new farm proposals, and another proposing assistance to the regulated transportation industry, particularly railroads.

Kennedy's major and most controversial proposals—trade, tax revision, Social Security changes, unemployment benefits—all involve changes in specific taxes or duties, and under the rules of Congress, all must proceed first through the House Ways and Means Committee, a body which is "hold-the-line" almost in the nature of things.

The committee chairman, Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.), is cautious, if not politically conservative, on tax measures. However, a recent decision by Rep. Dale Alford, a staunchly conservative Arkansas Democrat, not to run against Mills in November (they have been thrown into the same district by the state's new redistricting bill) apparently leaves Mills safe for re-election, and in a much better position to help move the president's bills if he so chooses.

The same programs face a similar hurdle in the Senate Finance Committee, presided over by Harry Flood Byrd, a Virginia Democrat who makes no bones about his opposition to much of the Kennedy program.

The Democrats hold a decisive majority in both chambers. But on the controversial issues, the northern and southern wings take opposing views nearly as often as they agree. The "move ahead" and "hold the line" philosophies can be found in either of the major parties, and adherence to them is generally more decisive than adherence to party label.

36 Spacecraft Still Going Around In Space

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Of the 78 spacecraft launched into earth or solar orbit by the United States and Russia as of December, 1961, only 36 are still up. But less than a dozen — American—are performing any useful purpose.

The Air Force launched a secret spacecraft from the West Coast Dec. 22 but will not say whether it is in orbit or still transmitting. Nor will it say whether Midas III, launched July 12, 1961, and Midas IV, launched Oct. 21, 1961, are still sending radio information.

Both of these missile warning satellites are still in orbit. Unofficial sources say they have gone silent.

Only three Soviet satellites are still in space, two in orbit around the sun and one around the earth. None is transmitting. The two craft circling the sun may stay up practically forever. The satellite in earth orbit — spacecraft launched May 15, 1960—will descend into the atmosphere in time and burn up.

The United States also has two spacecraft in orbit around the sun, their useful lives long since ended, and at least 34 in orbit around the earth. The earth orbiters are all doomed eventually to death in the atmosphere.

U. S. satellites still performing useful scientific service include:

Vanguard I, a grapefruit-sized satellite launched March 17, 1958. One of its transmitters, fed by solar cells, is still going strong. This satellite is providing trackers with information about the shape of the earth and the pressure of sunlight on spacecraft. It is expected to stay in orbit 200 to 1,000 years. Its radio voice is expected to last indefinitely.

Explorer VII, launched Oct. 13, 1959. Its radio voice was supposed to cut off after one year. But it didn't and is still sending information about radiation and magnetic fields in space. The satellite is expected to stay in orbit 20 to 30 years. How much longer its voice will last is not known.

Transit II-A, launched June 22, 1960. It will stay in orbit about 50 years. Its radio voice already has lasted longer than expected. This satellite was one of a series launched by the Navy to test the possibility of an all-weather satellite navigational system.

Echo I, launched Aug. 12, 1960. Its lifetime is indefinite. Echo, a balloon satellite, does not transmit, but it serves as a banking board for radio communications and is giving science much information about the pressure of sunlight and the warming and expanding effect on the upper atmosphere of solar flare particles.

Courier I-B, launched Oct. 4, 1960, by the Army to test actively transmitting satellite communication systems. Its estimated lifetime in orbit is several years, but its radio voice is believed to be nearing an end.

Transit IV-A and Injun, a piggyback satellite, launched June 29, 1961. Transit IV-A, also a navigational satellite, is expected to operate about a year. Injun, which is collecting information on solar and cosmic radiation, is expected to keep working indefinitely.

Tiros III, launched July 12, 1961. This has turned out to be one of most useful of the three weather satellites thus far put up by the United States. Tiros I, launched April 1, 1960, is still sending a tracking signal and Tiros II still is capable of sending cloud pictures on command. Tiros III is the only actively working weather satellite still aloft, however. Its cameras already have been transmitting pictures longer than expected.

Transit IV-B and Traac, a piggyback, launched Nov. 15, 1961. Estimated lifetime: 15 years.

Cat Seeks Out Long, Lost Home

Many Mill Valley folk are bothered in trying to find addresses on the winding hillside roads of their town. Poopsie, a Siamese cat, didn't let this problem beat her.

Poopsie originally lived at the Clayton Pickersgill home at 185 Circle Avenue, considerably above the surrounding terrain. But a son in the family proved allergic to cat-fur.

Another Siamese living down on "the flatlands" in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lincoln at 10 Plymouth Avenue was recently killed by three dogs. Through a Mill Valley pet store, the Lincolns and the Pickersgills arranged a new home for Poopsie.

Three days after arrival in the new neighborhood Poopsie wandered away from the Lincoln home. That was Dec. 19. The Lincolns searched, advertised and enlisted radio aid to no avail.

Ten days later—last Friday—a bedraggled and thoroughly tired-out Poopsie meowed at the door of 185 Circle Avenue. Marks of several miles of travel were evident.

Poopsie was taken back to her new home where she made feline apologies and, according to Mrs. Lincoln, now seems firmly attached.

ALLEN & SON

Quarter-Acre — Novato — $19,950
Plenty of room here in this cul-de-sac lot for the youngsters to play, undisturbed by traffic. Room, too, for a pool site. There's a separate door from the master bedroom to the garden. Three bedrooms, 2 baths, nice home. Near school.

Owner-Builder — San Rafael — $25,950
Built by a contractor for himself, this well-constructed home includes expertly-crafted details. Three bedrooms, 2 baths. Close to elementary and high schools. Nice fireplace; dinette in kitchen. Oversized two-car garage. View. Hot house, lovely garden.

Homey — Loma Verde — $29,250
An appealing entrance is created by used brick, white picket fence, wagon wheel, covered breezeway. Intimate entrance garden, well landscaped, as is the rest of the well-planned yard. Trees, fences, paths, patio. Protected terrace off living room, entirely separate from other patio off family-dining room. 3 bedrooms, den, 2 baths, cheery yellow electric kitchen. Adjoining country club.

In-law Suite — Fairfax — $29,500
Owners (now transferred and anxious to sell) added a large bedroom and bath, ideal for in-law apartment. Downstairs den has built-in bookcases on three walls. Sweeping view across valley and over Sleepy Hollow. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths on main floor, large dining room. This house is made for large families! Price reduced!

House Beautiful — Sleepy Hollow — $39,500
Like a colorful page in one of the magazines, this home has style and comfort in every room. Marble fireplace in the living room; glass wall from living room and dining room out to a wide expanse of clipped green lawn. Large kitchen with separate utility room. Two bedrooms and den, gracious entrance hall. Beautiful old oak shades one end of the quarter-acre lot.

Waiting — San Anselmo — $40,750
The owner of this house has been transferred and his family is waiting to join him. Their house is almost new, already improved to include a lovely family room. L-shaped for a variety of uses, the room has a built-in wall of shelves, drawers, desk. Three bedrooms, nicely-tiled baths, professionally landscaped. Lovely patio, view over valley and trees.

3,900 Square Feet — Villa Real — $46,500
1,900 square feet in upstairs living area, 2,000 below. Almost new home, adjoining Loch Lomond area. Three bedrooms, large kitchen with good-sized eating area. Fireplaces in both rumpus room, living room. Home could easily be converted to include 5 bedrooms. 10,000 square feet in view lot. Business executive transferred south, desires quick sale.

Comfort, Custom Built — Kent Woodlands — $69,500
Planned with care by an exacting owner (now transferred down the peninsula), this house has every ingredient for comfortable living. Set well back on a sunny plateau, shaded by tall trees, it has an inviting front patio, a large one in back. The latter is completely secluded, has a forested feeling of privacy. Three large bedrooms, three baths, extra storage throughout. Large kitchen, family-dining room. Wooded valley view.

Ross Estate — $75,000
Two hilltop acres; most magnificent view of the Ross Valley and the wooded mountain. Swimming pool terrace is especially well-situated with brick barbecue patio alongside, shrubs and trees backdropping it. Three bedrooms, 2 baths, game room, den, kitchen with breakfast room. Separate dining room, entrance patio secluded and attractive.

Marin's Oldest Wisteria — Kentfield
shades the mellowed brick patio of this charming old estate. The comfortable grace of a leisurely era is still evident here. The remodelled older home includes 4 bedrooms, electric kitchen, separate dining room, plenty of storage, entrance sunroom. The wooded grounds have a family orchard, lanai and new heated pool, a half acre of level recreation area. Three acres in all.

KTIM Adding Long Morning News Coverage

Radio Station KTIM and KTIM-FM opened 1962 with an additional early morning newscast, manager Hugh Turner announced today. Replacing the five minute news at 7:25, he said, is a full 15 minutes at 7:30, including local sports coverage and scores.

Turner said the move was made in response to requests from many listeners. The longer news period will allow coverage Monday through Saturday of last minute Marin County news.

The station continues its regular schedule of newscasts in addition to the new edition, said Turner, at 8:45 and 10 a.m., noon, 2, 4, 5:30 and 9:45 p.m.

Open House Set At Don Timoteo

A Thursday night open house will be held at the Don Timoteo School in Terra Linda which opened yesterday, announced Mrs. Lois Richmond, publicity chairman for the new school's Parent-Teacher Assn.

The open house will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the school library. The program will include a tour of the school and taped music from the children's choir.

Families of the children in the new school are invited, Mrs. Richmond said.

TRACKING 'INDIANS' IN WEST MARIN

It was a "first" for Marin archaeologist Norman Wilson (with pad) this weekend when he was invited to look over a 20-acre site above Drake's Bay in advance of development as a homesite. Archaeologist Wilson, assistant ranger at Samuel Taylor Park, pleaded in a recent Independent-Journal feature for prospective developers to give archaeologists a look-see first. The call by Mrs. Edward Vrable, arm outstretched, was his first such offer by an individual. Others from left are Vera Rivers of San Rafael, realty broker, and (far right), Edward Vrable, 12, son of the owners. Indians? "Not at this site," said Wilson. (Independent-Journal photo)

Best Universal Noise 'Signal' Of Humans Is Cry Of The New-Born

NEW YORK (UPI)—In casting about for a noise "signal" of the human being which is completely natural — not learned but universal mong people—Dr. Peter F. Ostwald chose the cry of the new-born. There could be none other which met his requirements, he decided.

And so he recorded the cries of nine infants as they registered their first reactions to this world. These sounds he analyzed according to the techniques of acoustical science and found the nine dove-tailed well if not perfectly. This gave him the pattern of "primitive" human noise.

Then he began recording the speech of assorted adult human beings for the purpose of comparing their sound patterns with the basic one. One of these adults was a woman who was overweight, who was emotionally dependent on others and who was given to hysteria.

The basic intensity and frequency pattern of her utterances was identical with the infant pattern, Ostwald said. Furthermore, there was octave doubling in the mid-range of the acoustic spectrum, just as there was in the infant pattern.

You may make of this what you please but, of course, you must keep in mind as widely accepted that intense emotional disturbances in adults often have their roots in infancy. Ostwald wasn't making much of it at the moment; he was content to describe what he had done.

He recorded the utterances of emotionally ill persons after they had been treated for their ills. There were changes in the loudness of these utterances which centered at 500 cycles per second on the acoustic spectrum. Those treated with electro-convulsions went up to that level and those treated with drugs went down to it.

This is of particular interest, Ostwald said in a report to the American Medical Assn., because 500 cycles per second is the place on the spectrum which "corresponds with the fundamental tone of the human baby-cry."

Whether these persons were male or female made no difference in their patterns. All things considered, Ostwald continued, it is hard to doubt these adults were giving off with noise which stems "from a primitive, pregenital pattern of response."

From his experiments in acoustic analysis of human utterances, Ostwald drew up "four distinct categories of human sound:

"1. A 'sharp characteristic of excited and complaining persons who needed to make themselves heard in dramatic ways.

"2. A 'flat' voice produced by depressed and obsessional people who presented an irritating but indistinct acoustic facade to the listener.

"3. A 'hollow' voice of organically ill or emotionally drained people who could not muster enough energy to sustain and clarify their speech.

"4. A 'robust' voice characteristic of persons who spoke loudly, emphatically and needed to be heard, to impress and to influence others."

Ostwald is a faculty member of the University of California School of Medicine.
